New Highway, When Completed to Lead Across Mountains Into Elsinore

BRINGING tangible evidence of success to years of unceasing efforts by leaders in the San Juan Capistrano district who have been seeking direct highway connection with inland regions, which forecasts new and greater development to the southern section of Orange county, the first steps in construction of a $50,000 road project between San Juan Capistrano and Elsinore will be taken within the next few days.

According to George Jeffrey, supervisor from the fifth district, initial steps in the construction of the highway will be taken within the next week. Surveys of the route, which the first section of the road will follow will start within a few days, and the contract for construction of the road will be let early in March.

After long negotiations with Riverside county, which at one time indicated the possibility of forming a joint county highway district for construction of the road, it was decided that the Orange county end of the project would be launched as soon as possible. It is now understood that the inland county is contemplating surveying a route for its end of the road and that construction of the entire traffic artery in the not far distant future is a possibility. Orange county decided to go ahead with its end of the road when satisfactory arrangements for division of the financial burden on the road seemed impossible. Orange county, having a much larger assessed valuation.

Condemned Pair Denied Writ By Federal Jurist

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 31.—(UP)—Judge W. G. Borah in federal district court today denied the petition for a writ of habeas corpus to save Mrs. Ada Bonner Leboeuf and Dr. Thomas Dreher from hanging at Franklin tomorrow.

The ruling was brief and gave the judge's reason for denial the fact "The petition does not set forth facts and allegations sufficient to justify the issuance of this extraordinary process."

Defense attorneys immediately started plans to ask Judge Borah for a certificate of probable cause. If this recourse is denied they will apply to justices of the circuit court of appeals.

CRUISER BILL VOTE TO COME NEXT MONDAY

Senate Takes Up Question Of Secret Sessions to Confirm Nominees

BY PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(UP)—A vote on the cruiser bill being assured for Monday, the senate laid aside the bill today to fight out the question of whether it is going to have any more secret sessions to confirm nominees for public office.

Advocates of the naval building program were heartened by the ringing speech of Sen. James A. Reed of Missouri so they consented to the plan of Senator Jones of Washington, the Republican whip who wants a vote on his proposal to change the rules. Following publication by the United Press of the roll call by which Secretary of Interior Roy O. West was confirmed, Jones sought to provide that secret sessions of the senate for consideration of nominations be abolished except when two-thirds of the senate vote otherwise.

Debate over the question in the last few days has been unusually bitter and Jones' supporters believe they have a better chance now to force a change in the rules than they ever had before.

The Reed speech, delivered by the master of oratorical diction, encouraged the cruiser bill advocates to claim the bill would change from its present form, even though it contains the time limit clause objectionable to Pres. Coolidge.

"I am in favor of cruisers and I want them built now," said Reed. "I believe it is the duty of every man to look after his own household. I believe it is the duty of every nation to look after its own safety."

Reed particularly devoted his sarcasm to "the whimpering and whinings of individuals who have too often led us into mistakes." He said the United States should not, like Diogenes, wander along with its eyes on heaven and stumble into a pit.

"The lowest form of animal," he said, "is the citizen of any country who thinks more of interference than of defense."

House Committee Urges Change In Federal Prisons

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—(UP)—The special house prison investigating committee recommended today that the entire federal prison system be revised and modernized.

It urged passage of legislation to erect new penal institutions to relieve overcrowded conditions in penitentiaries and extension of the parole system.

The committee report did not mention allegations that Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant U. S. attorney general, detailed under cover agents to investigate conditions at penitentiaries.

The report recommended erection of two new federal penitentiaries, one in the northeast and one in the southwest, and that federal jails or workhouses to care for short term and detention prisoners should be built in New York City, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis and San Francisco.

12 DAY VIGIL OF FIREMEN TO SAVE LITTLE GIRL REWARDED

PERRY, Kas., Jan. 31.—(UP)—It was a full day for little Margaret Brown, 7, who greeted the 13th day of serious illness with a bright red toy balloon to play with, nice men to smile at and no bothersome oxygen mask over her face.

The child who was kept alive for a dozen days by the administration of oxygen when her pneumonia stricken lungs could not breathe, definitely is on the road to recovery.

She did not need any artificially administered oxygen today but Dean Way and A. W. Schuberg, Topeka firemen, still are taking shifts in remaining by her side. The oxygen tank is there, too, so that Margaret may receive its life-giving aid in case it is necessary.

Way and Schuberg, the firemen, have been with Margaret since she failed to breathe 13 days ago. They arrived with tanks of oxygen and, in the face of despair on the part of physicians, refused to surrender their tiny patient to the clutches of death.

BY GAYLORD S. GODWIN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 31.—(UP)—Henry S. Johnston, suspended governor of Oklahoma, pleaded not guilty today to 11 charges of impeachment voted by the lower house of the twelfth Oklahoma legislature.

Johnston's plea was made to the Oklahoma senate court of impeachment. The date of Johnston's trial was set as February 11.

Johnston entered his plea through Thomas H. Owen, who, with M. A. Looney and R. L. Davidson will represent him at the trial.

Johnston took no part in the proceedings, but sat unobtrusively in the rear of the senate chamber.

Owen announced that Johnston wishes to waive time on the last three charges filed and plead to them today instead of waiting until February 5, the answer date.

Chief Justice Charles W. Mason of the state supreme court, presiding at the impeachment proceedings, consolidated all charges to permit pleas at this time.

ORANGE GROVE IN SANTA ANA IS SOLD TODAY

San Francisco Physician Is Purchaser of 15 Acres For $57,500 Cash

DR. MILTON McMURRAY, father-in-law of Fred Forgy of Tustin, today had added to his realty holdings in this vicinity by the purchase of 15 acres of land on McFadden street, at a reported consideration of $57,500. Dr. McMurray owns a grove on the Irvine ranch.

The purchase of the San Francisco physician, revealed here today by C. G. Dowd, Orange Grove realtor, consists of 10 acres owned by Mrs. T. J. McCarter, and 5 acres adjoining and owned by her son, Albert McCarter. It is understood $40,000 was paid for the former tract and $17,500 for the latter.

Forgy said today that his father-in-law does not contemplate making his home here and that he is buying acreage here because he believes that Orange county property is a good investment.

Following sale of his place, Arthur McCarter purchased a five and a half acre piece lying across the street from his former property, the purchase being made from Hugh Plumb, of Tustin. This deal also was transacted through Dowd.

The sale of the property today was the fifth transaction made in the last 24 hours by Dowd, who declared that he was "lucky" when asked if the orange grove business wasn't booming.

VALLEY TO COAST RAIL LINE SEEN

FRESNO, Jan. 31.—(UP)—That the Southern Pacific or Santa Fe railroad may build a rail line to connect the coast at San Joaquin valley with the coast at San Luis Obispo as a means of offsetting competition of the projected Western Pacific extension into the valley was a rumor in circulation here and in the coast city today.

Such a line, if built, would give the two established companies a shorter tidewater outlet for valley products, particularly for petroleum products from the new and important Kettleman Hills field, where extensive drilling now is in progress by several of the oil companies. Port San Luis, at San Luis Obispo, at present is used almost exclusively as an oil shipping point.

The Southern Pacific already has a line extending beyond Colalinga to Cholame, well in the way toward the coast.

BLINDING BLIZZARD STRIKES PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 31.—(UP)—This section was in the grip of a blinding blizzard which was piling new and old snow in deep drifts today, causing transportation delays and considerable suffering.

The snow, mixed with sleet, was being driven before a raging northeaster.

The sleet was more general in southwestern Oregon, but the storm had not reached Seattle, which experienced a minimum of 20 degrees.

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—(UP)—Marilyn Miller, the Ziegfeld musical star, appeared today in the role of cupid to her own father and mother.

Marilyn's father, Caro G. Miller, became ill recently in Los Angeles and his daughters seized upon that occasion to effect the reconciliation between their father and mother.

2 LOSE LIVES IN BLAZE ON DOLLAR LINER

Fire Breaks Out on President Johnson—Six Persons Also Injured

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Jan. 31.—(UP)—Fire which started early today in the midship berth deck of the Dollar liner President Johnson, burned two men to death and injured six others as the vessel lay at a pier about to depart for Cuba on the first leg of an around-the-world cruise.

The bodies of the dead were so badly charred police said identification would be difficult. Five of the injured were San Francisco seamen, William Gonzales, John Tiler, John Lasz, Leslie Jordan and John Lenahan. The sixth was a Jersey City fireman, Peter Mahoney, who refused to stay at the city hospital and returned to duty.

All were burned except Lenahan who leaped overboard and suffered from submersion and bruises.

Police and customs guards rounded up 103 Chinese members of the crew who fled to shore. After more than three hours firemen succeeded in extinguishing the flames and the Chinese were returned to the boat.

A carelessly tossed cigarette butt was believed to have started the blaze in the bunks of the white members of the crew. The two killed were believed to have been trapped in their bunks.

The fire was the third mishap to Dollar line boats within a short time. Two weeks ago the Dollar liner President Garfield went aground in the Little Bahama shoals and 83 passengers were taken off. A few days before that the President Hayes struck a coral reef near the mouth of the Panama canal.

Defense Hopes To Close Case Before Night

Keyes Trial Expected to Be At Argument Stage By End of This Week

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—(UP)—Money the state claimed went to buy favorable prosecution from former District Attorney Asa Keyes in the Julian petroleum conspiracy case was paid instead of a personal debt, a defense witness testified at the Keyes trial today.

Dave Getzoff, son of Ben Getzoff, asserted "go-between" in the bribery actions, said payments Jacob Berman made to the elder Getzoff resulted from a guarantee Berman made when he sold stock in the Julian corporation.

Berman, who turned state's evidence and received immunity in the present case, previously testified he paid out $40,000 to buy an acquittal when he was a defendant in the Julian case. The money he said was given to Ben Getzoff, who, in turn, passed it to Keyes.

Young Getzoff said his father lost $26,000 in Julian stocks. Because Berman had guaranteed against any loss, his father and Berman had bitter words, the witness said.

"My father said: 'You have robbed thousands of Julian stockholders but you won't rob me. You'll pay the $25,000 or I'll hound you the rest of your life,'" young Getzoff testified.

He said Berman then made an arrangement to pay the amount in small sums.

The witness recently was dismissed as a defendant with his father, and Keyes and Ed Rosenberg, all charged with taking part in the plot to buy Julian dismissals.

The defense was expected to conclude its case during the day.

STORM WARNINGS POSTED IN NORTH

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—Southeast storm warnings were flown today on the Pacific coast from Eureka northward to the Straits of Juan De Fuca, but the backbone of the western cold wave had been broken with the advent of wet weather for practically all sections except southern Nevada and southeastern California.

EARLVILLE, Ia., Jan. 31.—(UP)—A driving snowstorm, the 10th since January 1, forced the crews of a state highway snow plow to abandon temporarily their attempts to penetrate the snow barrier which has isolated the village of Colesburg for nearly two weeks.

HOOPER SPENDS DAY TRYING TO LAND SAILFISH

Returns to Palatial Yacht This Evening to Work On Inaugural Speech

BY THOMAS L. STOKES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

LONG KEY, Fla., Jan. 31.—(UP)—President-elect Hoover, wearing old clothes, a floppy hat and the eternal high stiff white collar, was fishing in the waters off here again today, the landing of a sailfish the immediate objective of his life.

But sailfish, or no sailfish, Mr. Hoover will reel in his line before sundown and return to his temporary sea home on the luxurious yacht Saunterer and there turn his attention to drafting his inaugural address, completing details of his cabinet, threshing out policy matters, and otherwise casting his mind forward to March 4.

He merely has transferred his office to a yacht which rides nicely in this balmy, tropical sea, away from politicians anxious for favors or bursting with advice.

Established in his temporary headquarters "at sea," Mr. Hoover in seclusion leaves the country almost "at sea" as to the plans for his administration.

He has made no public statement as to his intentions since his election. But action will be required when he comes face to face with the ticklish problems of prohibition and farm relief confronting him as president.

He will appoint a commission to investigate prohibition and its enforcement, soon after he takes office. It is assumed the scope of the inquiry will be broad.

There is also the immediate problem of enforcement. Mr. Hoover will advance measures to tighten enforcement, and prohibition is likely to become, in his administration, the dominant domestic issue.

Farm relief, with its belated issue of tariff revision, will come up in the extra session to begin about April 15.

AIDE OF CHICAGO BEER BARON KILLED

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—(UP)—Stephen Kuzynski, 25, known as "Bull Kane," reputed lieutenant of "Polack Joe" Salts, southeast beer baron, was murdered in a soft drink parlor today.

Kuzynski, police said, was killed by Eddie Mack, recently arrested on a charge of bombing the garage of "Spike" O'Donnell, Salts' enemy.

The shooting occurred in a saloon operated by Rose Bodnor, who told police she did not report the shooting for two hours because she "was afraid I would get it."

GRAND JUROR TELLS STORY TO PROBERS

Declares Judge Told Him To "Lay Off Aimee Case" In Early Hearing

SAYS MADE NO REPLY

Witness Before Legislative Committee Says Made No Report of Episode

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 31.—(UP)—Superior Judge Carlos Hardy attempted to influence the decision of the grand jury when it was investigating the Aimee Semple McPherson case in 1926, it was testified at his hearing before a special assembly hearing today.

Robert Bryden, a member of the jury which then was considering returning an indictment against the evangelist in connection with her still mystifying story of her purported abduction, said Judge Hardy told him "to lay off that Aimee case."

Bryden, a South Pasadena merchant, related that during the probe of the McPherson case he met Judge Hardy in an elevator. He nodded a greeting to the jurist, he said.

"Then Judge Hardy said to me you fellows better lay off that Aimee case. I didn't make any answer to him."

Bryden said he did not make an official report of the matter but that he did mention it to several of his fellow jurors.

The witness was asked if he considered this speech of Judge Hardy's an attempt to corruptly influence him.

"Yes," Bryden answered, "I resented it in my inner conscience."

Judge Hardy asked and received permission to place former presiding Judge Arthur Keetch on the stand before the special state assembly hearing investigating Judge Hardy's record with a view to possible impeachment.

Judge Keetch is expected to testify that Judge Hardy made no attempt to interfere in behalf of Mrs. McPherson when the grand jury was considering returning an indictment against her for her ocean to desert journey.

After the grand jury, in charge of Judge Keetch, failed to take an

Menu For County Home-Products Dinner Announced

PROGRAM WILL INCLUDE MUSIC AND ADDRESSES

Committees today were completing preparations for the third annual home-products dinner of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, to be held tomorrow night at St. Ann's Inn, according to George Raymer, secretary.

With the chamber being besieged with requests for reservations, Raymer today had procured 25 tickets from service corporations, and these he had available for persons who may wish to attend the big annual affair. Raymer explained that the service corporations had surrendered the dinner tickets by elimination of some of their employees as guests in order that more men and women of the general public might share the pleasures of the evening. The Inn's dining room, it was said, will be crowded to capacity.

Nothing but products made or grown in Orange county will be served at the dinner. Raymer pointed out, and he added that the variety probably would surprise persons who have not attended previous dinners.

N. R. Hamilton, a musician, has been added to the entertainment program, which will consist, also, of vocal and instrumental music. There will be but two addresses. Joseph Scott being the principal speaker. Walter Dexter, president of Whittier college, will make a five-minute talk.

tion than Riverside county, would have been in the position of paying a much larger proportion of the cost than the neighboring county, it was pointed out, although the final completion of the road probably will be as valuable to Riverside county as it will be to this section.

Jeffrey had set aside $50,000 in his road budget for road construction, with the idea that it would be available when arrangements for the Elsinore-San Juan Capistrano road were completed. When it appeared that further delay and discussion might be necessary before definite action could be taken, he decided that Orange county should proceed with its construction as soon as possible. Launching of the project was authorized by the board.

When completed, the highway will lead across the mountains into Elsinore, thus giving direct communication with this region and opening up the southern section of the county to traffic from the interior, which now comes down the Santa Ana canyon in order to reach San Juan Capistrano and neighboring coast communities. Through traffic to San Diego also will make use of the road, thereby adding to the activity which is expected to follow its completion.

Launching of the project has been hailed as a landmark in the development of the south section of the county and crowns efforts which have been under way for a number of years.

The test was given under the direction of A. D. Hoenshel, head of the department of research, who made the results public. The group taking the test included those who never had taken a mental test in high school before.

A median score of 153 was established by the group of 85. The national normal is 147, according to Hoenshel. The high score was 207, which is reached by only one per cent of high school seniors, according to Hoenshel.

Senator Brookhart, Republican of Iowa, gave the answer of opponents of the bill, since he was particularly singled out by Reed and caustically referred to as "Admiral Brookhart, General Brookhart, Chief of Staff Brookhart, General Voice of the People Brookhart and Voice of Mankind Brookhart, who claimed cruisers are useless."

"The one constructive thing Senator Reed has done in this body was his vote for the Kellogg multi-lateral treaty," said Brookhart. "His great speech starts out with cannibalism and winds up with cannibalism."

The house leaders hoped to have better luck today with the $24,000,000 prohibition increase clause in the first deficiency appropriation bill. Monday they adjourned summarily when Democrats demanded a straight-out vote on the increase inserted in the bill by the senate.

License Plates Cost To Double After Midnight

Persons who do not apply for their 1929 automobile plates today will pay twice the regular price for them tomorrow.

That was the word passed along by automobile clubs and state police today. The time limit for the procuring of plates at $3 expires at midnight.

The automobile clubs were doing a rush business today, with long lines of persons waiting to be served.

Capt. Henry C. Meehan, of the state police, said today that a checkup of cars which operated with old numbers probably would not be made for several days, as the Sacramento office will be flooded with applications during the next few days and some delay will be encountered in returning plates.

Last year the checkup was ordered on February 6 and Meehan believes that the same date will be effective this year, he said.

Sheriff's officers yesterday were asked to search for Leonard Otto Welch, 21, of Midway City, reported missing from his home since last Friday. He is described as being five feet, six inches in height and weighs 165 pounds.

A WORD OF COMFORT
Great and enduring accomplishments in science and art, as well as in religion, have invariably involved such immersion in the endeavor to fulfill a mighty purpose that personal ambition, pride of position, selfishness and self-interests have completely disappeared, as the worker became more and more the instrument of the ideal which he possessed.
That is exactly what is happening to you now as the desire consumes you to make your life so wholesome and sincere that you may become worthy to join in Paradise the one who has made life here so sweet, and without whom heaven would not be heaven to you.

ALLEN—At his home, on Placentia boulevard, January 31, 1929, Nathan E. Allen, age 62 years, husband of Mary Allen, and brother of Tom S. Allen of Lomita, Calif., and George Allen of Montana. Funeral services will be tomorrow at 2 p.m. from Smith and Tuthill's chapel. Interment Fairhaven cemetery.

Window Display To Boost Legion Member Campaign

To attract attention to the membership drive of the Santa Ana post, American Legion, a handsome window display, depicting the post's activities, will be seen arranged in the First National bank tomorrow or Saturday, Charles Van Wyk, past commander, announced today.

The membership drive is scheduled to close on February 14, at which time the post is expected to have 625 members. Fifty members are yet needed to reach the quota, according to Van Wyk, who said today that reports to the effect that the quota had been reached were not true.

The window display will include pictures of the Legion hall, the drum corps and the auxiliary glee club.

MOVE UNDER WAY TO PREVENT DUMPING OF DAMAGING WASTE INTO JOINT SEWAGE SYSTEMS

Asserting that serious damage to the joint outfall system here has resulted from improper industrial wastes being dumped into the system and declaring that the same condition obtains in other systems in the state, W. G. Knox, city engineer, today revealed plans being developed by sanitary engineers and state health board representatives for creation of a committee that would have authority to control wastes going into systems throughout the state.

The city manager pointed out that in joint enterprises one community participating in the joint system activity does not like to complain against another community when it permits damaging wastes to go into the system. He said that creation of the committee is designed to change this condition by giving the committee authority to deny cities the right to dump damaging types of sewage into disposal lines.

Creation of the committee probably will follow installation of a contemplated laboratory for investigation into the action of sewage under various conditions, with particular attention to be given processes for elimination of conditions that make use of sewage objectionable for irrigation purposes.

Knox is a member of a Southern California committee which has been making investigations for the last year and a half that have resulted in recommendation that the legislature appropriate $65,000 for establishment of a laboratory for further scientific investigation of sewage. Many city councils of the state have adopted resolutions urging the legislature to make the appropriation in the interest of better handling of sewage problems.

A committee now is being organized to work out details for operation of the laboratory in event the requested sum is appropriated. Paul Bailey, engineer of the Orange county flood control district, is being considered as a possible member of this committee, it became known here today, and it is anticipated that the Santa Ana engineer will be asked in a day or two to accept appointment to the committee. The committee is to have five members, three already appointed being H. K. Knowlton, sanitary engineer of the city of Los Angeles; A. K. Wilson, chief engineer of the Los Angeles metropolitan sewer system, and Dr. T. C. Wilson, of Los Angeles.

DEFENSE FAILS AT EVERY TURN: PLEADS GUILTY

J. M. Souza pleaded guilty today to issuing a $600 check without having funds in the bank to cover it. His plea was not entered, however, until he had exhausted his resourcefulness in developing a defense. He originally had pleaded not guilty and was scheduled to go on trial today before Superior Judge E. J. Marks.

Deputy District Attorneys Sam L. Collins and S. B. Kaufman were ready to prosecute Souza, but he at first intimated that he could produce a witness from the bank on which he had drawn the check who would testify that he had made arrangements to honor any paper which Souza might write. When this witness actually appeared, however, Souza decided to use another line of defense.

In his suitcase over at the county jail were papers which would show that he had effected such arrangements, Souza is alleged to have said. The suitcase was searched but failed to give up the supposed papers, according to reports. Then Souza pleaded guilty and asked for probation. Judge Ames set February 8 as the date for hearing his application. The $600 check is asserted to have been given to an Anaheim automobile sales agency as a down payment on a car. Souza, under the name of Joe Cruz, is reported to have pleaded guilty to another bad check charge recently in Norwalk, where he was given a 30-day suspended sentence.

30 PER CENT S. A. STUDENTS HAVE OWN CARS

Thirty per cent of the students of the Santa Ana Junior college own their own cars and use them daily in going to and from school. Out of a total number of 471 young collegians, 142 drive to the halls of learning.

Slightly more than 20 per cent of the students travel in their friends' cars, in busses or on street cars, according to figures revealed in a recent survey.

Walking, however, is still a commonly used method of transportation and 154 students wear out shoe leather instead of rubber in their daily journeys. This is the largest group on the list and represents 32.7 per cent of the student body.

The methods used by 79 students in reaching the college remained a mystery as far as the survey was concerned, for this number was unaccounted for. However, it was definitely established that they do arrive in some manner as yet undiscovered.

Sixty-three and seven-tenths per cent of the college population graduated from high schools outside of Santa Ana, according to the survey. Santa Ana supplies 35.3 per cent of

AN OPEN LETTER TO CITIZENS OF SANTA ANA

I want to take this occasion to explain just what I have been trying to accomplish with the Santa Ana Symphony Orchestra, purely for the good of the community.

As musical director of Santa Ana, I have a strong feeling of responsibility toward the artistic welfare of this city, and sincerely desire to do all in my power to further local musical progress.

I am not only concerned in the welfare of Santa Ana Municipal Band, of which I am employed as director by the city, but I want to do everything in my power to promote the general musical tone of this section.

A good symphonic organization can mean more to a community's artistic progress than any other factor. No civic activity can give a town more valuable publicity, or do more to improve general standards of living. The development of such an organization is purely a matter of civic pride and ambition.

For the past five years I have devoted much time, energy and expense to upbuilding of the local Symphony Orchestra, WITHOUT ANY PERSONAL GAIN WHATSOEVER. I am willing to continue to do so, and to do everything possible to promote musical progress in Santa Ana, for our community's welfare and enjoyment.

However, community support is vitally necessary for any organization's success. Expenses connected with maintenance of an orchestra MUST be met, just the same as those connected with any other activity. It is imperative that citizens co-operate, by proving their sincere interest and appreciation for what the orchestra is endeavoring to do, by more adequate and enthusiastic financial support!

the students, or a total of 171. Three hundred students graduated from high schools in other cities.

Orange sends 42 students, Anaheim, 31; Garden Grove, 20; Tustin, 30; Huntington Beach, 21; San Juan Capistrano, three; miscellaneous schools, 44. Fifty-eight students have no record of high school attendance.

Out of 733 offences investigated in connection with the Edinburgh (London) juvenile courts, 257 were committed on Sunday.

Rodeo, Midway At County Fair Will Be 'Dark' Sunday

Apparent definite assurance that the 1929 Orange County Fair would remain open Sunday, September 1 was obtained here today following a meeting of the board of directors of the fair board at which it was voted to close the rodeo and midway but arrange a "suitable program" in keeping with the day for the fair proper.

The directors heard and discussed a resolution from the Orange County Farm bureau which was addressed to the board of supervisors and which urged the supervisors to purchase the grounds now used by the fair, for fair and recreational purposes. Another resolution from the farm bureau, urging the fair board to do all in its power to keep the farm center exhibits representative of the different districts and not the ideas of some professional display builder, was read.

It was announced that the 1929 premium list is being prepared by a committee composed of Secretary S. W. Stanley, George Kellogg and Mrs. J. V. Kelsey.

8. Waltz—"Vienna Life," S. Strauss.

Since tonight's concert program will mark the initial appearance of the Santa Ana Symphony orchestra this season, as well as the presentation of the first formal program by the Treble Clef chorus, many enthusiastic Orange county music lovers are expected to be present.

The Public Forum

Communications under this heading must be signed by the name of the writer. These communications express the opinions of the writers of them. The opinions may or may not be the opinions of The Register.

January 28, 1929.

Editor Register: I address this letter to you as the means of reaching the majority of the thinking people in this county in the quickest time.

There will be a meeting here in Placentia of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, Thursday evening January 31.

One of the most important subjects will no doubt be that of "Junior Colleges." Now it is my personal opinion that neither Santa Ana nor Fullerton union will ever voluntarily give up their present junior colleges, which means the rest of the county will have to organize a third junior college or continue to pay tuition to send their students to one of the two now organized.

Why not organize a county college? Not a junior college but a full four-year college. In fact, the Orange County university. This would automatically eliminate the two present junior colleges, as no city would be selfish enough to stand out with a two-year junior college and try to go it alone when the entire county with $165,400,000 valuation and 100,000 people were united behind a big four-year institution centrally located, serving all the people all the time for the general benefit of the educational system of this great orange empire.

There may be legal obstacles, but they can be overcome. It seems to me that such a plan is a logical one to unite the entire county behind a real program. Hundreds of students who never get any further than the two years of the junior course could get a university education right here at home where they could live with their parents. Such an institution besides having a great wealthy county behind it, could be endowed later on by some of our wealthy and public spirited citizens. It would within 25 years rank as one of the leading cultural and educational institutions of the west and would be our very own. I present this idea to you as a leading editor to present to your school board, chamber of commerce and readers.

Yours truly,
C. E. LEE.

BREA CHAMBER SEEKS DATA ON COLLEGE PLAN

BREA, Jan. 31.—Discussion of Brea's part in the junior college situation in Orange county constituted the keynote of the meeting of directors and members of the Brea Chamber of Commerce in the Olson-Dyer cafe yesterday.

L. A. Hogue reported a meeting with the Placentia Chamber of Commerce Tuesday, being accompanied by A. O. Andrew and W. A. Culp, both of this city. According to Hogue, Brea-Olinda district alone is being considered by Fullerton school trustees in their project of forming a northern district junior college, and this because it has the valuation, the taxation and but little population in comparison. It was reported that the Fullerton school trustees have already taken action to purchase land for the college on the hills northeast of Fullerton.

The discussion finally ended in a motion that President Massey appoint a committee to investigate the situation from its legal standpoint as well as its many other phases. Massey will name the committee later. The opinion generally expressed was favorable to a county junior college.

Walker C. Davis commented upon the fact that residents of Brea living south of Elm street and north of the Brea grammar school must receive their mail on rural routes from Fullerton. He declared that business and professional people of Brea, as well as the patrons of the mail routes, are agreed that this mail should be addressed to Brea even though served by the Fullerton carrier. A committee is to be named to investigate the proposed change.

Reading of a list of new members revealed that the following have joined the chamber since January 1: Shipley grocery, Tackett market, Home cleaners, Smart Shoppe, Daley's store, W. W. Hay, Ross Warner, R. W. Phelps, L. A. Sayles, Harry Yarbrough, Earle Skinner and Frank Schweitzer.

DEFENDANT WINS $500 DAMAGE SUIT

The Southern Counties Gas company today was victor in a $500 damage suit directed against it by R. H. Swesey, who charged that leaking gas mains maintained by the company had resulted in damage to his property.

Judgment in favor of the gas concern was returned yesterday in Presiding Judge James L. Allen's court.

Swesey's complaint asserted that the company had been negligent in maintaining the gas main and that escaping gas had filtered into his land at Lincoln boulevard and Buena Park highway, destroying four cypress trees and one walnut tree.

BEACH P.-T.A. SCHOOL STAGE PROGRAM SOON

LAGUNA BEACH, Jan. 31.—Formal opening of the new school auditorium, just being furnished, is planned in conjunction with the Parent-Teacher association program which is to be given February 22. No admission charge will be made.

The program is in charge of Mrs. Wilberta Main and Miss Helen Seymour, and pupils of the fourth and fifth grades, with some assistance from the eighth grade, will present the entertainment of the evening.

The auditorium was finished after the school rooms were completed, and the chairs are only now being put in place.

Mrs. A. B. Marshall, president of the Parent-Teacher association, expects to have a program given by Tustin union high school pupils on February 22 brought to the local grammar school for March 2. At that time an admission will be made, and that portion of the funds which come to the local association will be devoted to assisting in furnishing the stage and equipping it. A potluck supper will be served to those participating in the program.

March 8 is to be Fathers' day at the grammar school, with a program in charge of Mrs. Joseph S. Thurston and Mrs. Marian M. Forrest. It is to be given at 7:30 o'clock in the evening with the faculty of the Tustin high school invited.

CONVENTION PLANS WILL BE DISCUSSED

Further plans for the convention, in Fullerton, of the California State Firemen's association will be discussed at the meeting, tonight, of the Orange County Firemen's association and the women's auxiliary, to be held in the new city hall in Brea. It was announced today by Boyd Sleeper, secretary of the organization.

Mrs. Roy Davis, of Fullerton, is president of the auxiliary. Emil Carlson, chief of the Brea department, has arranged the program for the meeting, it was stated.

Financing of the 1929 convention is proposed by developing advertising for the convention number of the Firemen's State Journal and it is expected that a contract will be awarded tonight for soliciting advertising for the publication.

Robert C. Reed, 28, painter, of 1037 University street, San Diego, was brought to the county jail here last night by Sheriff Sam Jernigan and Deputy O. K. Forsy and is being held on a check charge.

The complaint in the case, on file in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court, recites that Reed passed a "no good" $35 check here on May 26, 1928. The complaining witness is J. E. Vinson, Santa Ana man. Reed is scheduled to be given a hearing in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today.

AUTO DEALERS TOLD OF VALUE OF CREDIT BODY

The value of the service the Santa Ana Business Men's association in giving credit information was explained to a group of representatives of auto dealers in the city at a dinner meeting, last night, at St. Ann's Inn.

Otto Haan, dealer and a member of the board of directors of the association, presided at the meeting, with President William Tway and Secretary R. Earl Ruddy as special guests to present detailed information as to the credit service.

The association men pointed out to the dealers that the organization is in position to render valuable service by making credit history available to the dealers when they may be in need of information on the paying habits

PASTOR NAMED BY BAPTISTS IN ANAHEIM

ANAHEIM, Jan. 31.—The Rev. L. T. Barkman, acting pastor of Calvary Baptist church for the past three months, was elected to serve as pastor of the church at the regular monthly meeting of members last night.

The meeting followed a dinner served in the basement under the supervision of the Women's union. About 75 persons were present.

The business meeting was preceded by a short prayer service. A motion was made and carried to dispense with the election of a nominating board of nine members. The motion included a request that the present board serve a rostership year. A decision on this matter will come before the church at the annual election, the first Wednesday in March.

The officers elected in March will be formally installed the first Wednesday in April, according to W. E. Bartlett, church clerk.

The Rev. Mr. Barkman, has been in Southern California for a number of years. Before coming to this state he was in charge of a gospel car traveling through the west and middle west. His son, the Rev. Roy Barkman, was associated with him in this work.

DAMAGE ACTION IS SETTLED FOR $8250

Settlement of a $15,000 judgment obtained by Julian Heim, of this city, against Charles Tipple, had been effected today by the authorizing of an $8250 cash payment.

Young Heim, who brought suit against Tipple through Carl Heim, his father, was injured in an automobile accident, in July, 1926, in which the Tipple machine was involved.

Bringing suit in superior court, Heim secured judgment for $15,000. A petition for settlement on the basis of $8250 was filed through James L. Davis and Sharpless Walker, Santa Ana attorneys, who represented Heim.

Superior Judge L. Allen authorized the settlement on this basis. The petition pointed out that Tipple had no property not exempt from execution, with the exception of a $10,000 accident insurance policy.

A fan letter recently received in the San Francisco studios of the National Broadcasting company proves that Japanese women are appreciative of radio entertainment. It was, in part, as follows:

"Have writing you this very much appreciative letter for radio talk. I am learning American fashion working and sank you very much for so teaching. My honorable residence in this city is beautiful and green and I do most all what you tell me to do."

"Respectful admiring."

INDIAN MUSIC WILL FEATURE NBC HOUR

Composition of Dvorak and Cadman will be featured in the broadcast of the Standard Symphony hour from 7:30 to 8:30 tonight through stations of the NBC system. This hour supplements the 30-minute morning lecture-concert presenting a complete program of music discussed and played in part at that time.

The hour is divided into four 15-minute periods, the first of which is devoted to "American Indian and Negro Melodies." The "Dagger Dance," climaxing the dramatic scene in the second act of Victor Herbert's grand opera "Natoma," introduces this group.

Dvorak's "Indian Lament," based on American Indian melodies, introduces the second period, devoted to "Dvorak and American Music."

"European Conception of Negro and Indian Music," the third 15-minute division, will first offer the Bird Scene from "Cinderella," Taylor's "Hiawatha Ballet," with its charming flute passages.

The concluding portion of the hour will be devoted to "Charles Wakefield Cadman and his Indian Music," from which the orchestra will play his "Thunderbird Suite."

VETERANS AND NOVICES ALIKE TREMBLE WHEN THEY APPEAR BEFORE MIKE FOR FIRST TIME

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—In the eight years it has become so popular, despite all that has been said in its favor, the microphone remains the cold, unsympathetic disc of metal it was on its first day of broadcasting.

Artists by the thousands have faced it, and hundreds more are facing it for the first time almost daily.

Flu Attack Is Fatal To NBC Officer

DAYTON, O., Jan. 31.—Charles Broadwell Popenoe, treasurer of the National Broadcasting company, died recently in the Miami valley hospital, here, of pleurisy and lobar pneumonia. A pioneer in broadcasting, Popenoe was the manager of WJZ as the second broadcasting station in the United States, established in 1921 by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. He piloted it through the early experimental stages and in 1923 was appointed manager of the broadcast division of the Radio Corporation of America, when that organization took over WJZ and moved its studios into Aeolian hall, New York. When the National Broadcasting company was formed in 1926, he became treasurer of the company.

Popenoe, after a visit to relatives in Dayton, was on his way back to New York when he was seized with influenza. He was removed from the train and taken back to his parents' home in Dayton. The next day he was taken to the Miami Valley hospital.

He leaves a widow and three children. The Popenoe family made its home in Glen Ridge, N. J.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Opposition to the White bill to extend the life of the federal radio commission another year was expressed before the house committee on merchant marine and fisheries by Radio Commissioner O. H. Caldwell, who said that it was his conviction that the "commission method is illy adapted for radio administration."

Under the present radio law the commission becomes a quasi-judicial body after March 15, with its administrative functions reverting to the department of commerce.

"However useful a commission of five may serve as an appellate body to pass on radio controversies, acting as a sort of court or jury, certainly it has been demonstrated that a commission organization is not suited to administer constructively, efficiently or competently a great advancing scientific art like radio," Commissioner Caldwell told the committee.

Technical Problem

"At these present hearings members of the committee and witnesses have repeatedly made the comment, as individual situations arose, that these were problems for engineers to study and handle. Radio is a technical problem."

Caldwell explained that the radio division of the department of commerce is manned by "competent radio experts and engineers" and is the logical agency to govern radio.

Discussing the recent reallocation of broadcasting facilities, Caldwell said members of the radio commission who voted for it "have no apologies to make for it." They endeavored to carry out faithfully, accurately and completely the purposes of the radio law, he declared.

The commissioner defended the setting aside of 40 cleared channels for exclusive station operation, and the grants of high power made by the commission. Farmers and distant listeners were not served under the set-up existing prior to November 11, he declared, but the reallocation made possible adequate service to rural listeners, whereas formerly good service was afforded only to the city listeners.

Misconception Prevalent

A misconception of "high power" is widely prevalent, Caldwell explained. A 50,000-watt station is only a "22 horse-power" station, with less force than the average automobile, he declared.

Cleared channels were described as "essential" by Caldwell, who stated that the "leading radio engineers of the country recommended the setting aside of 40 such channels in the interest of good reception." He stated at this time he is prepared to recommend 50 or 60 cleared channels so that more and better service might be rendered.

REAL PIONEER

Wendell Hall, the "Red-Headed Music Maker" of radio, has a record of "firsts" that would make anyone envious. He says he made the first radio tour in the history of broadcasting, received the first advertising contract in the history of radio, was the first recording artist to broadcast and his was the first radio wedding ever held.

REALLOCATION CONFUSING, SAY BROADCASTERS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The house committee on merchant marine and fisheries, considering the White bill to extend the life of the Federal Radio commission for one year after next March, heard Henry A. Bellows, former radio commissioner, testifying on behalf of the National Association of Broadcasters. The association represents 122 stations in the United States.

The "general method" for realigning the radio broadcasting structure of the nation, pursuant to the terms of the amended radio act of 1927, favored by the commission's chairman, Ira E. Robinson, is constructed as "sound" by the association, said Bellows.

Chairman Robinson, a previous witness, had explained that he opposed the reallocation from the start, endorsing a plan whereby equalization of radio facilities among the States and radio zones, as required by the Davis equalization amendment, would have been effected by "gradual steps" rather than by a sweeping realignment, to the majority of the commission voted.

Bellows, general manager of WCCO, declared it was the judgment of the association that the views of Chairman Robinson "should have been followed." The commission, in the public interest, he declared, under questioning by Representative Davis, (Dem.), Tulaloma, Tenn., author of the equalization amendment, "should not have effected changes among the 94 per cent of the stations."

The witness said he did not believe that the commission had adhered to the letter or to the spirit of the equalization amendment, although in some respects conditions have been improved. He agreed with Representative Davis that the changing of assignments of 94 per cent of the stations tends to "create confusion in the public's mind."

On local channels the commission "has done an exceedingly good job," said the witness. The stations on these channels are spaced properly with about the same power, and as a result, no interference of moment is caused.

Discussing chain broadcasting, Bellows declared the duplication existing is a "somewhat serious menace to the rights of listeners to hear all the programs they want." Chain broadcasting, however, he described as "absolutely essential to radio."

I believe that any form of regulation of chain broadcasting is going to have a very serious result, probably working against the public interest," he said. "The economics of chain broadcasting will enter the problem within a relatively short time and will work itself out," he said.

Were it not for her name, Olive Kline could readily be taken for a real Spanish senorita not only by her appearance, as this photo reveals, but by her songs as they are broadcast on Sunday evenings in the La Palina hour over the Columbia Broadcasting system. HIGH POWER STATION, 15 MILES DISTANT, WILL NOT BLANKET RADIO RECEPTION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Testifying before the house committee on merchant marine and fisheries, regarding extension of the life of the radio commission, Henry A. Bellows, of WCCO, Minneapolis-St. Paul, said that in principle he personally favored both high-power and cleared channels to a moderate extent.

Discussing movements to limit the power of broadcasting stations to 10,000 or even 5,000 watts, as compared to the present 50,000 allowed by the commission, he declared this was to his mind, an administrative matter to be handled by the federal agency regulating radio, and not a matter for legislative action by congress.

Engineers hold the view, the witness declared, that in most cases a station with 50,000 watts power will cause as much heterodyne interference as will a 50-kilowatt station. The advantages of high power, he said, are better signal strength with resultant clearer reception, rather than to serve a materially increased number of listeners.

The service range of a station does not grow commensurate with the increased power assigned it, as most people suppose, said Bellows. Moreover, he said, the general belief that the higher the station's power the more interference it causes, also is erroneous. Engineers are of the opinion that by moving stations of higher power outside the city limits, perhaps 10 to 15 miles, the blanketing effects of stations, even within the cities to which they are adjacent, are materially reduced.

COMMISSION ON TRIP

The Canadian Radio commission has started on a tour which will take them through England, Germany, France and the United States. Methods of broadcasting and the radio industry in these countries will be carefully studied by the Canadian commission for possible adoption in that country.

A 15-minute talk will be broadcast simultaneously from WGY, Rochester; WFBL, Syracuse; WMAK, Buffalo. The television broadcast will be received by General Electric company experimental studios in Oakland, Calif., New Orleans, Atlanta, St. Louis, Chicago and New York.

NEED MONEY TO DEFRAY COSTS OF RADIO BOARD

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Chairman Ira E. Robinson, of the federal radio commission, suggests that broadcasting stations be required by law to pay license fees, so that the cost of federal radio administration could be defrayed that way. Some broadcasters do not appreciate the responsibilities they must meet, he says, and intimates the payment of a fee would bring these responsibilities forcibly to their minds.

"Broadcasters do not all recognize their trusteeship," he said. "I have wondered if there should not be a license fee. Perhaps if a reasonable license fee was invoked broadcasters would take more seriously their responsibility of trusteeship."

"It might be well to carry a license fee to cover the administrative expense of the commission." It was brought out that for the current fiscal year the commission has an appropriation approximately $350,000, but that for the ensuing year, if the commission is continued by passage of the White bill, a greater fund will be needed for additional personnel as well as increased operating expenses.

Robinson said that this country could not do away with advertising or sponsored programs via radio, as is done in England and practically all other countries.

"I know of no other way than to charge the listeners themselves to pay for the cost of programs, and the public does not want that," he said. "Radio had its birth with advertising and has grown to manhood with it. It is the only practical way to support it."

"Some sponsored programs emphasize their wares. But there is not so much of this."

D. W. Griffith To Be Subject For Television Test

FANS SEEKING AUTOGRAPHS OF RADIO ARTISTS

While the desire of autograph collectors for the signatures of celebrities always has been regarded as a sign of public favor, the spread of the hobby to the radio field presents a problem to microphone stars, according to Olive Palmer, coloratura soprano and radio star.

Hailed by critics as an outstanding luminary on the air, Miss Palmer's fan mail has been steadily growing in volume. Coupled with letters praising her performance and requesting her to sing the favorite melodies of those who write to her, the diva is constantly being asked for her autograph. Sometimes, in endeavoring to grant these requests, Miss Palmer says that she can sympathize with big business men who get writer's cramp from signing checks.

"In my grand opera and concert days I often was asked for my autograph," said Miss Palmer, "just as all theatrical and musical stars frequently are, but the audiences of those who sing from the stage necessarily is limited to comparatively few thousands each season. "With the radio performer it is different. Each time I sing before the microphone I have the thrill of knowing that possible 40,000,000 people throughout the country are listening to me. It gives me a sense of tremendous responsibility and I deeply appreciate my place in the hearts of my great public, but sometimes—when it comes to autographs—I wish my audience would have a heart!"

BRITISH STATIONS USING NEW WAVES

LONDON, Jan. 31.—European broadcast stations have operated since January 13 under the international agreement known as the Plan de Bruxelles, which was worked out by the technical committee of the Union Internationale de Radiotelephonie. Under the new plan the stations of Great Britain and northern Ireland use the following frequencies and wavelengths:

Ralph Wentworth, for the last three years and a half connected with the NBC system as announcer, has joined the announcing staff of WABC, where he will be heard, as well as over the Columbia Broadcasting system.

TIME FOR CROOKS TO WORRY

Miss Leona M. Esch, below, is trying to bring into Cleveland the radio system which Detroit police have found successful in running down criminals. At the right is Sgt. Kenneth R. Cox, of Detroit, who is in charge of this system. Photo below shows radio installation in a police "cruiser."

Woman Leads Campaign For Radio Aid In Running Down Criminals

CLEVELAND, Jan. 31.—A short, wiry, enthusiastic woman is leading a movement here which may culminate in the state-wide adoption of radio facilities for the apprehension of criminals.

The woman is Miss Leona Marie Esch, operating director of the Cleveland Association for Criminal Justice and the only woman in that capacity among the 64 similar associations in the United States. Miss Esch is a lawyer and a graduate radio mechanic, the combination explaining her interest in police use of radio broadcasting.

Cleveland now is facing the problem of increasing the efficiency of its police by means of radio, especially since it has received the offer of one of its radio stations, WHK, to be its broadcasting medium free of charge. WHK, now managed by M. A. Howlett, is one of the first broadcasting stations in the United States. Recently it moved to larger quarters and augmented its broadcasting facilities.

Station Facilities Free
Howlett has a short wave transmitter which is doing nothing at present, and has offered to put up this apparatus and supply operators during the day, if the Cleveland police department did the rest. All that would remain on the part of police would be installation of a remote control panel at police headquarters, maintenance of a direct line to WHK transmitter and purchase of a radio receiver for each of the police emergency cars of the city. In addition, a special police operator would have to be provided when the WHK men are not on duty.

In order to discover the practicability of this method of criminal apprehension, Miss Esch went to Detroit, where the system had been operating since October, 1927. Detroit had tried this work as far back as 1918, but it was not successful until Kenneth R. Cox, a radio operator and electrical engineer, took it over.

Miss Esch went out with one of the radio-equipped police "cruisers" for five nights, and has returned enthusiastic over the idea. According to her observation, a car dispatched to the scene of a crime by radio got there in less than two minutes on an average, and had to wait a few minutes before the regular police car, which always "backed up" these reports, came along.

Scotland Yard Interested
Burglars reported entering a house were actually caught still on their way in! In September, Officer Cox reports, 101 arrests were made in a total of 78 minutes!

The Detroit system has become so famous that requests concerning its operation have come from Scotland Yard, Toronto, Seattle and other distant places, says Miss Esch. The Pennsylvania state police have requested a special wavelength of the federal radio commission for the same purpose, and so has Massachusetts. Dallas, Baltimore and Boston, Miss Esch adds, are planning the same system.

The new Ohio criminal code, which is up for adoption by the legislature this spring, would permit county prosecutors, with the consent of the judges of the court of common pleas, to use the facilities of broadcasting stations for spreading by radio the news of crimes or the escape of criminals. "That means," says Miss Esch, "that we may expect rapid broadcasting of criminal information to spread throughout the state of Ohio. If Cleveland starts this, we are assured of the co-operation of all the police chiefs of Cuyahoga county, of which Cleveland is a part, and further spread of the idea through Ohio."

HIGH-PRICED ORCHESTRA
Union regulations compel station WBBM, Chicago, to maintain a separate orchestra in one of its studios while Guy Lombardo and his band broadcast a program during the Wrigley hour of the Columbia Broadcasting system. This orchestra plays a total of 45 seconds during announcements—and receives a full evening's pay for it.

SEIBERLINGS TO SING MUSICAL BEST SELLERS

The Seiberling Singers are going to turn novelists. Dipping their vocal and instrumental talents into a group of musical "best sellers" tonight they will translate the action of a story into music and write it on the air waves. It promises to be one of the most unusual programs which they ever have presented. The millions of listeners-in who can dial the coast-to-coast hook-up of the Seiberling hour will sit back, close their eyes and have the pages of an "audible" novel turned for them.

The vocal and instrumental story will open with a quartet performance of Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Song of India," transcribed from its original form by Frank Black, musical director of the Seiberling hour. This will be followed by "Salut Demeure, Chaste et Pure," the lovely song from Cavatina's "Faust," sung by James Melton, Seiberling's own tenor, and "Marchetta," played on two pianos by Phil Ohman and Victor Arden.

The program promises, besides "Romance," by Rubinstein, which will be played by the "Seiberling Violins," "Roses of Picardy," sung by Melton, and two other quartet numbers, "A Little Puff of Smoke," and Kawelo's "Aloha, Sunset Land."

The Seiberling hour goes on the air every Thursday night from 8 to 9:30 p. m. Pacific coast time, through 38 stations of the National Broadcasting company's Red and Pacific Coast networks.

JULIA SANDERSON on General Motors Program.

JULIA SANDERSON ON GMC PROGRAM

Julia Sanderson, the dainty feminine member of that famous musical comedy trio of which Donald Brian and Joseph Cawthorne were the other partners, will be the vocal star in the Chevrolet hour of the General Motors Family party on Monday night. Appearing with her will be Frank Crumit, another popular old timer of the vaudeville and musical comedy stage, composer of "Sweet Lady" and "A Gay Caballero."

Instrumental music for the program will be provided by an augmented orchestra.

mented novelty orchestra and the entertainment will be of the popular vaudeville type. It will be carried over a coast-to-coast network by the National Broadcasting company and 34 associated stations.

NEW ATWATER KENT MODELS ANNOUNCED

Announcement was made in Philadelphia this week of two new electro-dynamic Atwater-Kent radios. One of the receivers, Model 46, is a table set, using seven A. C. tubes and one rectifying tube with double power tube stage. The company also announces an electro-dynamic speaker, which is said to be true to the whole range of music.

The second new model, No. 53, is a distinctive innovation in radio. It is an "all-in-one" instrument, in the form of a low, graceful, metal console. Its finish is particularly unique and attractive, being ebony lacquer with green or red trimming. Mechanically its receiver and speaker are the same as the model 46 and dynamic speaker. The color of the console and its convenient, unobtrusive size provide a radio that will fit into the color scheme and furnishings of any room.

Debate On State Bird To Be KGO Feature Tonight

Those of the radio audience who are tuned to KGO between 6:30 and 6:45 tonight will hear a debate on the subject of whether or not the quail should be considered a candidate for the office of California state bird.

Harold C. Bryant, director of the educational department of the fish and game commission, will take the stand in favor of the quail running for office, with Leo Wilson, sports writer, taking the opposite view.

RADIO'S BUMPER YEAR
Maj. R. A. Klock, chairman of the statistical committee of the National Electric Manufacturers' association, estimates that the 1928-29 radio year will have radio sales nearly 90 per cent over last year's.

VETERANS AND NOVICES ALIKE AFRAID OF MIKE

scious," she says, "but I was conscious of quite a different feeling, very powerful and uplifting. It seemed that I was reaching the spirits of my listeners more definitely than I had in concerts. I also had a more intimate feeling of speaking directly with them. I felt the atmosphere of the home life."

"It was quite thrilling. I was almost overcome by it."

Pershing is flustered. That's hardly an exaggeration, if you will hear what other artists have to say about their first nights. Even the bravest of the brave have come out of the studio perspiring and red from the first shock.

When General Pershing first appeared in the studios of WCCO, in Minneapolis-St. Paul, a guard of honor was placed in the room for him. As he entered and acknowledged the salute of the soldiers, he noticed the microphone and whispered softly, "At ease."

The guards must not have heard him, for they maintained their rigid positions at salute. Again Pershing tried, but again they failed to hear him.

By that time the famous commander was perspiring with nervousness. An announcer noticed this and told him to talk as he pleased, for the microphone had not yet been connected. It was too late, however. He approached the mike nervous and fearful. He had difficulty finishing his speech.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

CREOMULSION
FOR THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

He admitted later he'd rather face a machine gun than that little lifeless instrument that was supposed to take the place of millions of human beings.

They Don't Drink
Perhaps the best description of an artist's feeling before the mike for the first time is given by Remo Bufano, famous marionette artist of New York. Bufano says:

"The first time I talked over the radio I felt as though I was walking at a 45-degree angle with the floor coming up to meet me. The microphone was like an audience that you see in a nightmare. I was sure it was the end of a watch chain with a human being dangling somewhere below it."

"The announcer, who seemed to me for all the world like a huge frog who didn't dare to leap, took my hand and led me to this black stick that stuck up out of an abyss. He told me to sit down in front of the microphone, and I didn't know how. He pushed me and I sank."

"I opened and shut my mouth and nothing happened. Suddenly sounds vaguely resembling my voice seemed to be coming out of somewhere, and I felt as though this instrument of torture was dragging and picking words out of my mouth."

One way or the other, that's mike fright. And no matter how old broadcasting will become, mike fright will remain with us. For new artists will fall under the microphone's spell day after day.

FRENCHMAN AND GERMAN WHO FOUGHT EACH OTHER IN WAR BECOME PALS IN KHJ STUDIO

Radio has joined other agencies as a factor in the great American melting pot. This fact is clearly demonstrated in a story of members of the Don Lee Symphony orchestra, which is a part of the musical staff of KHJ, Los Angeles. Karl Knaul, violinist of this organization, was a student in the Munich Academy of Music, of Munich, Germany, under the tutelage of Prof. Felix Berber, when the World war broke out.

SIMPLICITY IS AIM OF ZENITH RADIOS

Radio has entered a new era of simplicity of operation as tuning has become child's play with the exclusive presentation of automatic tuning this year by the Zenith Radio corporation, according to Bob Gerwing, Zenith dealer here. With the recent reallocation of wave lengths, automatic tuning has proven a timely boon to radio reception, Gerwing says. It enables instant, accurate tuning of both distant and local stations by the mere pressing of a button. Its performance and accuracy is almost uncanny as it logs stations automatically to return to their exact point on the dial at the touch of a finger. There is no limit to the number of stations that can thus be obtained by the Zenith automatic tuning device. The Zenith automatic tuning device does not interfere in any way with old-fashioned tuning as the dial is absolutely free to operate by hand regardless of the stations set on the automatic device.

Columbia Offers Pair Of Programs

The Columbia network will unload several high class features in Southern California tonight, via KPLA-KMTR and KFVB. A program featuring the Columbians will come on the air at 7 p. m., with KPLA-KMTR broadcasting. The Picadors, a dance orchestra, and a male trio will broadcast through KPLA-KMTR and KFVB between 6:30 and 7.

BIGGER RADIO SHOW
The Radio Manufacturers' association show in Chicago, originally intended to take place on June 3 at the Stevens hotel, promises to be such a big event that accommodations have also been secured at the Blackstone and Congress hotels.

He was just 20 years of age and full of the romance of school and music, with war and carnage the farthest thing from his dreams. Two weeks later he was dressed in field gray, sheltered by an iron helmet and on his way to the front, a dispatch rider attached to the infantry of the German army.

Hurried to Front

In another school at the same time in Paris was Rene Hemery, also studying violin. He likewise, was at the front within a fortnight, being sent immediately to the St. Mihiel sector to help stem the Teuton tide. Food was scarce, what there was having been poisoned by contact with gas used by the armies of two nations, and within three weeks, Rene Hemery was on his way to a hospital. He never recovered sufficiently to again take his place in the front lines. For the duration of the war, Rene played his violin in hospitals and camps in France to bolster the morale of the fighting men and when the war was over he came to California, where a doctor was able to again bring back his health. Today he is well, and a member of the Don Lee Symphony orchestra.

Karl Knaul's life was not to be so routine. Karl was assigned to riding a motorcycle at the front. A barrage was laid down directly in his path, but that was nothing—his orders were to deliver the messages. A shrapnel shell tore the front wheel off his motorbike while he was speeding at 60 miles an hour and Karl woke up in a hospital with his body full of the shell which demounted him. His face was badly smashed and his nose broken. In six days he was again patched up and ready for more service, but the carefree days of dodging shells at 60 miles an hour were over and he was assigned to the aviation service of the 22nd infantry regiment, as machine gunner. In this service he spent a year and nine months and besides many trips into the interior of Germany, made 109 separate trips over the lines of the fighting armies.

Cruised Over London
Three times he cruised over London in the inky darkness of night trying to get pictures of that town's protective fortresses. He partook in three "dog-fights," which he describes as "pippins." On his last flight they were forced to land in French territory in a blanket of gas, in which they retained consciousness just two minutes. The three flyers in the German plane were immediately taken by the French soldiers and one of these gallant captors volunteered to give his blood for a transfusion to save Karl's life. His own blood drained, the poison thus removed and the Frenchman's injected, an enemy's life was saved.

Following this, he had a stay of two years and four months as an enemy of war on the Isle of Man, British Isles. Here he was just one of 30,000 prisoners, from all the armies of Germany and her allies. Austrians, Germans and Turks were here and here they stayed until three months after the signing of the armistice. Upon his release Karl hid himself to his fatherland but like Rene he, too, soon sought to begin life anew in America.

Then in a theater in Hollywood began the friendship which is so strong between these two patriots of their respective countries, but who are now just as good Americans as a native born. From the theater they both were drafted to round out the organization of which Don Lee is so proud, the Don Lee Symphony orchestra. And so the melting pot brews, and brews, and brews.

TANGOS FOR JAZZ
The tangos and folk songs played by the A. and P. Gypsies over the NBC system are sent direct to the leader of the orchestra, Harry Horlick, by the famous band leaders of Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires. The Gypsies trade modern jazz tunes to these band leaders for the genuine tangos.

STOP BAD BREATH

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous cathartics do without any of the bad after effects. Olive Tablets bring no griping, pain or any disagreeable effects. Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 50c, 90c. All Druggists.—Adv.

FINE FURNITURE IS FOUND IN MAJESTIC

"Majestic electric radios still leads the field." This claim is made by W. J. Wilson, vice president and general manager of Ungar and Watson, Inc., Majestic wholesale distributors in Southern California and Arizona, summing up conclusions made by him after interviewing more than 275 Majestic radio dealers in the southwest, many of whom handle competitive equipment and have had an opportunity to carefully examine all the new models that have been introduced in the last six weeks.

"Majestic dealers everywhere are amazed at the improvements in the new 1929 receivers and have expressed their wonder that they could be accompanied by a lower retail price for the most popular model in the Majestic line, the Highboy model, that is in such demand by radio enthusiasts who are lovers of fine furniture," said Wilson.

"The beauty of the Highboy cabinets undoubtedly will make an immediate appeal to every woman who is particular about the appointments of her home and this distinctive piece of furniture will find its way into the living rooms of people who have formerly bought much more expensive radios than Majestic solely because the cabinets seemed more suitable.

"It is the opinion of Majestic dealers throughout this territory that more Majestic receivers will be sold per capita in the southwest this year than were sold during 1928, when 143 carloads of this much talked about equipment were sold in less than seven months."

SMELTZER

SMELTZER, Jan. 31.—Mrs. Charles Parr, accompanied by her father, George Abbott, of Westminster, were at Corona Tuesday to visit Mrs. Georgia Green, sister of Mrs. Parr, who has been a patient there for a number of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Woodington spent Monday evening in Torrance as guests of Mr. Woodington's brother, W. W. Woodington.

A letter received Tuesday by Mr. and Mrs. David Holsclaw from Glenwood, Iowa, Mr. Holsclaw's former home, tells of the thermometer standing at 13 degrees below zero, making Mr. and Mrs. Holsclaw more appreciative than before that they terminated their visit at the time they did.

Fred Tapper Jr. and Tom Taylor motored Friday from Hemet to the home of their uncle, Wilfred Lewis and on Saturday were accompanied home by Mrs. Tapper, who has been a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Parr, of Long Beach, were entertained Monday evening in the home of Mr. Parr's father, Charles Parr.

Yvonne Stanley, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Grana is ill in the home of her grandparents where she is staying during the time her mother, Mrs. George Stanley, is a patient at the Fullerton General hospital, where she underwent an operation recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Applebury and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Applebury and Donald and Clarence Allen Applebury formed a theater party to Santa Ana one evening this week.

The NEW Majestic Radioan immediate sensation

IT looks like another Majestic Radio year. A regular avalanche of telegrams from Majestic radio dealers throughout Southern California and Arizona tell of the immediate public approval accorded the new Majestic Electric Radio Receivers which were shown to eager radio enthusiasts, for the first time, on Thursday, January 17th, 1929.

These telegrams tell of a public approval that is demonstrated by actual orders for hundreds of the new receivers from discriminating radio buyers who have selected Majestic, after careful comparison with other radio sets, as the one receiver offering the most in beauty, performance and built-in quality for the dollar invested.

Majestic's combination of fine furniture, typified by the new Console pictured in this advertisement, its sturdy construction, efficiently engineered receiving circuit, fidelity of tone reproduction and sensibly low selling price make it the unquestioned bargain of the radio industry. No other receiver offers half as much for so little.

No matter how critical you are about the appointments of your home... no matter how much you demand of a radio receiver in performance... Majestic will meet all your requirements, and more. Your money will be well invested in Majestic. We urge you to see and hear it before you consider buying any radio, regardless of price.

(This advertisement is published by the Associated Majestic Radio Dealers whose names appear below. Any of them will gladly, and without obligation, demonstrate the new Majestic Electric Radio in your own home, free of all cost.)

Ground Broken For New Presbyterian Church

$57,000 HOME TO RISE SOON ON TUSTIN LOT

TUSTIN, Jan. 31.—Tustin residents united yesterday afternoon in a ground breaking ceremony for the $57,000 building to be erected by the Presbyterian church. The Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Santa Ana, delivered the address of the day. The Rev. Mr. McFarland commended the members of the Tustin church on their progressiveness.

The Rev. S. F. Shiffer, pastor, acted as master of ceremonies. The first spadeful of dirt was turned over by S. E. Tingley, chairman of the building committee of the church. Other members of the committee took turns at the shovel handle. The spade was then turned over to the finance committee whose members also took part in the ceremony. Members of the missionary society, aid society and Sunday school departments of the church assisted.

Mrs. R. E. Carswell is the president of the Missionary society of the church and Mrs. G. E. Hatfield is president of the Aid society. Gavin Baxter, superintendent, represented the Sunday school.

Members of other churches in the community were present. The Rev. J. W. Carson, pastor of the Methodist church, gave a Scripture reading. The Rev. Shiffer delivered the invocation. More than 125 persons were present.

The Rev. William E. Snider, pastor of the Advent Christian church, who was scheduled to assist in the program, was called out of town. He was represented by members of the church.

Others taking part in the ground breaking were Mrs. C. A. Weise, Mrs. B. F. Bewick, Mrs. C. L. Hallett, Albert Thorman, members of the building committee; Mrs. C. P. Marshall, C. E. Utt, P. H. Ebel, Charles Smith, Albert Farnsworth, B. F. Bewick and Frank Fowler, of the finance committee; Mrs. P. H. Ebel, secretary of the Missionary society; Mrs. G. M. Robertson, treasurer of the Missionary society; Mrs. Hollis Lindsey and Mrs. A. L. Dietrich, past and present secretaries of the Aid society; Mrs. Gavin Baxter, superintendent of the kindergarten department of the Sunday school, and Mrs. Charles Smith, superintendent of the primary department of the Sunday school. Hollis Lindsey was in charge of the first load of dirt to leave the site.

While the ground breaking ceremony was held yesterday, actual construction work will not start for some time. Excavating will be started soon.

STATE ENGINEER AT SAN CLEMENTE

The two men talked over sewer disposal and reviewed plans for the two systems now under consideration. Sites for each type of plant have been decided but as yet no decision has been made on the system of disposal the city will adopt.

Instruction In Packing College Plan

FULLERTON, Jan. 31.—A class in Orange packing has been added to the part time courses offered at the Fullerton junior college. It was announced today by L. O. Culp, vice principal, who has charge of vocational guidance at the school.

A survey of the packing class conducted at Chaffey Junior college was made this week when J. A. Prizer, Winthrop Bowen and E. F. Bloodgood, trustees at the school, and Culp journeyed to the neighboring school and were so impressed with the success of the training there that they decided to offer a similar class in the local school.

The class will start February 4 at one of the Fullerton orange packing houses, and instructions will be given by an experienced packer. Classes will be limited to 12 members and the course will continue until the student is capable of packing 40 or more boxes of oranges daily.

ENGINEERS ON HARBOR GIVE VIEWS AT MEET

NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 31.—Gen. Lansing H. Beach, Col. C. T. Leeds and G. L. Sonderegger addressed the citizens' meeting held last night in the school house in Newport Beach, discussing the recommendations made by them concerning the opening of the harbor entrance.

Colonel Leeds explained that the board had made two recommendations, one for the most necessary items that would aggregate about $155,000 and the other for a larger amount than was estimated would finish the entrance in good shape. In the complete plan, he said, the extensions to the present jetties would be carried out, converging as they went and ending about the same distance from the shore. This type of construction would cause the flow of the tide in and out of the harbor to have more velocity at the outer and tend to keep the sand from settling at that point; also with a sea coming into the mouth of the jetties the greater width inside would permit the spreading of the wave after entering, thus decreasing its height and force, he said.

The groins were placed in such locations as required protection from erosion due to wash and they would tend to deflect the current away from the danger points. He further stated that the taxpayers of Newport Beach had shown wonderful fortitude in carrying the development along thus far and he believed that the time had come when the burden of the final step should be borne by the county as a whole, since the opening up of this harbor would benefit materially not merely the whole county but many living beyond its boundaries.

General Beach reiterated the sentiments of Colonel Leeds and added that in his opinion, "with the completion of the harbor work Newport bay would become the most famous bay in the country." Sonderegger explained that the $34,000 recommended for dredging in the "immediate improvement" estimate would be sufficient to assist nature to open the 150-foot flattened "S" channel but that the 200-foot opening could not be maintained without the completion of the jetty extension.

"If Santa Monica, Venice or Redondo had your natural advantages, they would grab with both hands," he said.

A picture of the map was projected on a screen erected over the platform.

COMMUNITY PROVERBS (By Miss Mealy Bugg)

Don't be too independent. Even the ladder to success has to lean against something before you can climb it.

Most anybody can boost the home town along while the band is playing, but it takes a real patriot to sweep out the town hall after the concert is over.

"Good old times" means when you remember how much money you used to make, and forget how hard you used to work to make it.

DON'T GIVE YOUR RIGHT NAME

The saddest words of tongue or pen are these: "Your note is due again!"

The gladdest men are spoke or wrote!

Along as you like renew that note."

In sending his regrets at not being able to attend the Associated Chambers of Commerce meeting in Placentia Thursday evening, R. G. Chambers, Costa Mesa, writes: "Will be out of town, but I want you to know that I'm for anything to make Orange county a better county, more highways, better schools, a harbor, Boulder Dam and a county planning commission." (Fumigator note: Fine, R. G., you're a whole quorum and catching the county-wide spirit with a strange-hold.)

"SHE'S FUNNY THAT WAY"

If there's no FUMIGATOR next week here's how. "Tiny" Yocha, of whom there are no tiny-ers, has invited us out to the El Rodayo Riding Club. Says they need another horse. Well, we've always had an ambition to put on a brown derby, leather pants, hold a whip in our hand and ride along side of a beautiful girl, like they do in the pictures if that's enough detail, and here's our chance. If the Prince of Wales could only see us his horse would fall from under him again. Ambulances take notice, first come, first appreciated. Horsefeathers, OKMNX!

"FABLE-FLASHES" (Hot off the Wire)

BIG IDEA, N. Y., Jan. 30.—A Sing Sing convict was made to swallow a camera, presumably for scientific purposes in the treatment of cancer. But suspicion here leads us to believe that this is another scheme of the Prohibition department to get more inside dope.

WHEN YOU BEGIN TO NOTICE FALLING HAIR YOU'RE NOT FAR AWAY FROM FALLING HEIR TO A LUSTROUS CROWN.

There's another way to get rid of billboards, which has been tried with some measure of success. Buy up strategic strips of land along the highways and cover them with trees and shrubbery.

But isn't it a rather sad commentary on our proud California citizenship to think we have to go to such extremities and expense to eliminate a positive menace to the safety and well-being of our people? You proud native sons and daughters, organized to uphold the fine traditions of California, are you going to let one per cent of all national advertisers GET AWAY WITH IT? We don't believe you are.

Billboards and commercial signs that deface the countryside and ruin the landscape are a stench to the civic nostrils of all citizens who have a grain of the love of beauty in their souls. The U. S. Department of Agriculture, through the Federal Highway Bureau, calls billboards A NATIONAL DISGRACE! Let's make ALL of Orange county a restricted district so far as are concerned these unnecessary and obnoxious travesties upon the public conscience. Remember this: The "circulation" for billboards is now provided gratis at public expense by the building of the highways, so long as the boards are within reading distance of the road. Therefore, we are not only stupid enough as a people to let the billboard people skin us out of our landscape beauties, but we are ACTUALLY FURNISHING THEM WITH A "PAID CIRCULATION!" Incidentally, here is another valid reason for a county planning commission.

LETTERS TO THE FUMIGATOR

W. M. Creakbaum, secretary to Mary Pickford's Christmas-Out-Of-Doors Committee, writes us, as follows: "The Christmas-tree decoration campaign was launched for the purpose of encouraging the decoration of LIVING trees, and Miss Pickford at the inauguration of the campaign stated that the particular reason she had for accepting the chairmanship was that it would 'engender in the hearts of children the love for living, growing things.' The trees along Hollywood Boulevard were potted, living trees which were immediately transplanted in Hollywood Bowl after they had served their purpose during holiday season. This coming Christmas we plan a still greater campaign to perpetuate the living tree, and I trust that the committee will have your support in this movement." (FUMIGATOR'S note: You certainly will have our support for the idea of LIVING Christmas trees, Mr. Creakbaum. From your letter we are led to believe that ORANGE COUNTY, instead of Los Angeles county, was after all the worst offender in using the dead trees.)

PLANK NO. 5 (From The Fumigator's platform) Plank No. 5 is for a county junior college embracing all of Orange county in one district, and as centrally located as possible. There are several reasons for but one junior college in the county. Among them are the greater school spirit, a real touch of college life right here at home, economy and efficiency, fostering a greater love of county and desire for county unity, the prestige in the state and among other institutions of learning. A county junior college would be strong enough to admit of a fine agricultural department, if such a department were desired, and we understand it is.

A county junior college would eliminate a lot of local squabbles and misunderstandings concerning junior college administration, which are even now destructive of the best interests of education. A county junior college would avoid that unfortunate undercurrent of sectionalism in our county. This "north" and "south" stuff is dangerous to progress. A county divided against itself had better quit business.

150 Attend Santa Ana Breakfast Club Session

PRESIDENT OF L. A. GROUP IS CHIEF SPEAKER

Approximately 150 men and women cleared their eyes early enough this morning to reach St. Ann's Inn in time for the 7 o'clock meeting of the Santa Ana Breakfast club and participate in the pleasing program provided under direction of Bruce Switzer, Tevis Westgate, B. E. Morthland, Eugene Kahan and Bob Fernandez.

Women were special guests, arrangements having been made for presence at the previous meeting, when it was anticipated that some of the Wampus baby stars would be in attendance. The stars did not come down, explanation being made by Maurice De Mond, president of the Los Angeles Breakfast club, that the absence of the movie people was due to the fact that the annual Wampus frolic had been called off and that the stars were not appearing at public gatherings.

DeMond was introduced by President Guy Gilbert as the organizer of the first Breakfast club in the United States, and DeMond responded to the introduction with a brief talk on the purposes of the Breakfast club.

Emphasizing the point that the club here should not permit politics to enter its portals, and declaring that the building of the city should be left to the chamber of commerce and other service clubs, DeMond said that the purpose of the club is to promote the spirit of friendship. He commented on the fact that the spirit of club meetings placed the individual member in prime condition for meeting the responsibilities of the day.

"Endorse no movement, whether it be city, county, state or national in its scope, and then you will have reformers coming to you with petitions for suppression of cats," said the president of the Los Angeles organization.

Stressing the point that the Los Angeles club has become famous for its practice of entertaining notables when they come to Los Angeles, DeMond suggested that the local organization direct its activities in such a manner as to bring to it the distinction as the host club of the city.

Musical numbers by a sextette from the Santa Ana Symphony orchestra, composed of D. C. Cianfoni, Miss Allien Lair, Miss Georgia Bell Walton, Eddie Burns, Lyle Roberts and C. D. Motley, and a group of funny stories well told by Arthur Forster, of Los Angeles, offered the special program. Forster kept the breakfasters in an uproar by the stories he told.

Eugene Kahan proudly displayed at the meeting a plated membership card of the Los Angeles club, presented by DeMond this morning. Kahan became a member of the Angel City organization on the occasion of a recent visit to that club.

George Boyd suggested that the club give consideration to a joint meeting with the Orange County Riding club in the near future, with an open air breakfast at some point in the county. Officers of the club indicated they would give consideration to the suggestion.

RETAIL COURSE IS OFFERED BY LOCAL COLLEGE

Students of high schools and junior colleges who are interested in studying for the field of merchandising and who are planning to enter the course of retail management offered by the Santa Ana Junior college are urged, in an announcement issued today, to consult with Miss Mildred Meyer, instructor in the course, before enrolling for the work.

According to reports, Santa Ana Junior college is the only junior college in California offering the course, and the experiment is being watched with interest by those in the field of commerce. This is the first year that the course has been offered in the local college.

SEES PACIFIC COAST CENTER OF INDUSTRIES

With Latin America countries adopting American standards and using American goods, trade possibilities in those countries offer splendid opportunities for developing the Pacific coast into the manufacturing center of the world, in the opinion of A. B. Roussele, as expressed in an address at the meeting today of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club.

Roussele was on the recent good will tour of Californians to South American points, and he presented in his talk some of his observations on the trip.

He pointed out that arrangements are now being made for an increase in water shipping facilities between the Southland and the Latin countries, and asserted his belief that in 10 years Southern California would be teeming with factories making goods for consumption in those countries.

The talk by the local man was similar to ones he has given to other clubs in the city and which have been publicly reported on these occasions.

trWaoftashrd etsets hethethuluuu L. R. Crawford presided as program chairman and introduced Charles Overbury, of Huntington Beach, as a special entertainer. Overbury sang "My California," a composition of his own.

That it is the intention of President George Smith to maintain order when men are speaking from the floor was indicated today when he levied a $5 fine each on three members accused of indulging in conversation while a member was speaking.

Returned Missionaries Honored Guests Of Guild

Mrs. William Ashmore, the wife of Dr. William Ashmore, a returned missionary from China, and Miss Viola C. Hill, also a missionary from China, home on furlough, spoke to the World Wide Guild girls of the First Baptist church, recently at their monthly potluck supper and meeting in the church banquet hall.

After a merry supper hour, the guests, Mrs. Ashmore, Miss Hill, the Rev. and Mrs. Harry Evan Owens and children, and Mrs. Armstrong, new counselor of the guild, were introduced. Mrs. Ashmore, for whom one of the guild chapters is named, presented to her namesakes an antique incense burner filled with lively sweet peas. The "Ashmore circle" was invited to visit Mrs. Ashmore's home and enjoy her many Chinese souvenirs.

Miss Hill wore her Chinese costume, a loose, straight, short garment with three-quarter length sleeves. This is very different from the long plaited dresses of a few years ago. Fashions change in China as they do in America, it was pointed out. Chinese school girls are adopting American fashions rapidly. They have discarded their cloth shoes and now wear leather shoes of modern styles.

Miss Hill in discussing Chinese girls stated that only about five out of 100 had any schooling at all. Two-thirds of China's population, she said, including girls as young as 8 or 9 years old, are employed in making incense. The dust is so heavy in these work-rooms that one can see only a few feet ahead. The factories are never heated, although the climate is damp and bitterly cold.

Later in the evening Miss Hill showed the members of the Viola C. Hill guild chapter, pictures of her Chinese classes and the schools and colleges where she taught. "Many people say that missionaries go to foreign lands and have an easy time with servants to wait on them," stated Miss Hill. "But let me tell you what we have to do." She then described the multitude of household duties to be performed. China has very few modern conveniences except at Shanghai. All drinking water must be boiled and cooled before using. There is no sewage system, no running water nor any large heating system. Electricity has only been developed in a few places. In the cold climate it is necessary to almost weight oneself down with woolen clothes to keep from freezing.

In spite of all these handicaps, the mission schools of China have grown swiftly. Pictures shown of the schools taken several years ago compared with recent ones show marked growth.

Successful Card Party Rewards Efforts Of D. A. V. Auxiliary

Expressing themselves today as being well pleased with the interest displayed in their first social affair in a program of "welfare fund parties," members of the Disabled American Veterans' auxiliary were recalling with satisfaction, details of their card party held last night in Legion hall, and attended by approximately 130 guests.

Attractive holiday atmosphere was loaned the big assembly room by Valentine colors and decorations, and the card tables were placed in friendly groups where players might progress or pivot, as fancy dictated. They were also privileged to choose their game, and while many preferred bridge, there were numbers of others who chose 500 as the evening's diversion.

Mrs. Rose Edwards, commander of the auxiliary, and her committee on general arrangements, offered friendly greetings to the guests upon their arrival, and tally cards were distributed at once for the games. This committee, of which Mrs. Hilda Riehl was chairman, and which included also, Mrs. Emily Burns, Mrs. Marie Wolters, Mrs. Katherine Rasmussen, Mrs. Lennie Porter and Mrs. Ruth Barker, had selected prizes which truly delighted their fortunate recipients. Such gifts as hand embroidered pillow slips were used for high rewards for the feminine winners, while the men scoring high received flashlights or pens as a handsome tie with a tie pin. Consolation gifts for the women were bridge sets of score pads and tallies, while cigarette lighters in dog forms, consoled the men.

Mrs. Emerson J. Marks was the fortunate winner of the door prize, a pretty table lamp. Mrs. Fannie M. Reeves scored high among the progressive bridge players, with Mrs. Wolfson, low. Roy Runnels and E. L. Redford were high and low among the men.

Among those who chose to pivot, Mrs. A. G. Plag scored high and Mrs. Tona Sandon, low, with Judge Emerson J. Marks and Charles J. Leimer Jr., taking high and low scores among the men. Mrs. Slater of Orange scored high among the progressive 500 players, and Mrs. J. M. Rohan, low, while Beverly Woods was high and Ernest F. Allen, low, among the men. Among the pivoting players, Mrs. Borchard and W. E. Graham took high prizes, and Mrs. South and George Young, low.

To conclude the enjoyable evening, the auxiliary members utilized the card tables for serving cherry pie a la mode with coffee.

Miss Loretta Allen, who will become the bride of Reuben Meadows on Sunday, was the incentive for a lovely party and shower given recently by her aunt, Mrs. John Dunham, of 393 North Pine street, Orange.

Flaming poinsettias were used in decorating the home for the lovely affair and after a pleasant social evening, delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

Miss Allen received many lovely gifts. Invited guests were Mrs. Roy Bruce, Mrs. W. M. Broyles, Mrs. B. M. Broyles, Mrs. Garland Hodrick, Mrs. J. D. Allen, Mrs. Ben Allen, Mrs. Dunham, all of Orange; Mrs. Waldo Poston and Mrs. Luther White, of Santa Ana; Mrs. Asa Casey, Mrs. Ted Cook, and Mrs. Ada Swain, of Irvine; Mrs. Ralph Dinker, of Santa Ana canyon; Mrs. A. J. Allen, Mrs. Loran Meadows, Miss Flossie Morris, Miss Grace Morris and Miss Vivian Battle.

Oranges Are NOT Acid!
With oranges at their best and the prices so reasonable we should use them as frequently as possible. Bought by the crate or half crate they provide a delicious fruit and health insurance at the lowest possible price.

Don't say that you can't eat oranges because they are "acid." Oranges are not acid, but alkaline, the neutralizer of acid. If oranges disagree with you the trouble lies in you and not in the oranges... probably in the dietetic indiscretions that have gone before.

VITAMIN C, the lack of which leaves one open to infection, particularly cold, is found at its best and richest in oranges. As a source of the protective alkaline minerals, calcium, sodium and iron, oranges stand high in the list.

TODAY'S RECIPE

French Fish Stew
1 large onion, diced
1-3 cup bacon fat and butter mixed
2 tablespoons flour
3 cups boiling water
Salt and pepper
Cayenne to taste
1 clove garlic (optional)
2 or 3 pounds of fish
Minced parsley and lemon for garnish
1-2 glass cooking sherry (optional).

In case you do not know, cooking sherry is now obtainable in most good food shops. This sherry is salted and is used only for seasoning purposes.

You may use any kind of fish in season for this stew, other than salmon. Barracuda, red snapper, fresh cod or any of the lean-meated fishes are suited to this way of serving.

In a stew kettle put the fat and in it gently fry the diced onion until brown. Add the flour and stir until it has browned also. To this add the boiling water and make a thin gravy. Season to taste and stir in the clove of garlic finely minced.

Wash and wipe the piece of fish and set it to cook in the hot gravy, turn it occasionally while cooking, but not after it becomes soft enough to break—the gravy can then be basted over it.

The heat must be low and the kettle kept covered. When the fish is done put in the sherry and gently shake the kettle to mix with the gravy.

Carefully take up the fish. Pour the gravy around it and garnish with minced parsley and lemon slices. Two pounds of fish serves four people.

There are 1700 calories in the Fish Stew, largely protein, or it seems so until we look at the make-up of the fish and find that about two-thirds of its weight is water.

Orange Float, Orange Whip or a delicious frozen Orange Neg would make a suitable dessert for the Fish Stew.

The recipes will be found in the current leaflet, "When Oranges Are Best," sent to you free of charge if you send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

TOMORROW the dessert will be Date Tapioca Pudding.
ANN MEREDITH.

Hostess Trio Receives Friends at Pretty Bridge Luncheon

Mrs. Ralph A. Mosher, Mrs. Harry T. Duckett, and Mrs. Earl S. Morrow received a large group of guests at the Country club yesterday where they entertained with luncheon and bridge.

The guests selected their own places at the one or another of the thirty small tables which were attractively set with delicate spring flowers in crystal vases, at the base of which were daintily colored mints. Bo-peeps carrying bouquets of spring flowers, later to serve as tally cards, and fruit cocktails at each place completed the lovely spring-like ensemble of the tables. Lovely flower and candle harmonies here and there about the room completed the decorations. One especially beautiful vase of rich blue which contained a mass of desert smoke tree.

Following the luncheon, tables were cleared for bridge. When scores were totaled Mrs. W. H. Haddon, Mrs. L. G. Swales and Mrs. Mark Lacy were announced as winners of first, second and third scores. They were asked to come forward to make their choice, in the order of scoring, from a group of lovely quilted pillows, the artistic work of Mrs. Harry Duckett. The beauty of the gifts enhanced with lovely wrappings of gay paper elicited many "ohs" and "ahs" from the guests who all crowded about the lucky recipients to feast their eyes.

CHURCH WOMEN SOCIETY THE HOME WEDDINGS CLUBS FRATERNAL FASHIONS HOUSEHOLD

The WOMAN'S DAY

Again Henry Ford remarks that there is too much drudgery in the home and that the great throbbing world of industry and science must do for the woman in the kitchen what it has done for her husband in the shop, on the farm, in the office.

In his new book, entitled "My Philosophy of Industry," he writes:—

"We shall soon find a way to do much of the cooking outside and deliver it in a hot and appetizing condition at mealtime at no greater cost."

He elaborates other ways in which the household work outside the home could absorb the retail work of the home, giving woman leisure and time for the many other interests of life.

HIS IDEA NOT NEW
Henry Ford's voice isn't the first raised against the waste of woman power in the home, nor is he the first to present a solution.

Years ago they tried out community cooking, community nurseries, and, after all, what is the public laundry and restaurant, but a way for women to transfer her individual laundry and cooking to the wholesale world outside?

The big question in all attempts to do away with "drudgery" is the same question which the Chinaman asked when told of all the time that he could save—"Yes, and what do we do with this time?"

It is possible that the bulk of women are really ready for deliverance from bondage. But it is also possible that they are not, and that if what our Henry Fords are pleased to call "drudgery" was taken from them, they would ask, "What do I now do with my saved time?"

THE WOMEN PROTEST
I have noticed that the chief carpenter against all attempts to lighten home labor are women themselves. Nobody ever sniffed more sniffily at the first attempts at community kitchens and community nurseries than women; the older women who, having gone through their own course of sprouts, wanted other women to get the same dose, and the younger women who chafed at the idea of their own job being taken from their own hands.

After all, having a hot meal delivered to one's door at mealtime doesn't seem the answer to a mother's prayer, does it? How does it differ so much from the fact that for years hot home-cooked foods could be bought in a myriad places and delivered, too? Perhaps the city has the advantage on the country here, but there have always been church suppers available for the family.

Auto Runs 59 Miles On Gallon of Gas

Automobile engineers who worked for years in an effort to reduce gasoline consumption have found the solution in a marvelous invention that fits all cars. An actual test made by one of the engineers showed 59 miles on a gallon of gas. Thousands of car owners have already installed this new invention. They not only report amazing gas savings, but are also surprised to find quicker pick-up, instant starting, smoother running motors and disappearance of carbon. E. Oliver, 999-1807 West Third Street, Milwaukee, Wisc., for a limited time is offering a free device to those who will help introduce it. They also need men everywhere to make over $100 weekly in their own territory taking care of local business. Write him at once for free sample and big money making offer.—Adv.

THE TINYMITES

The Trouble Tots were very scared. How poorly they had really fared. They squirmed with the giant's hand, but he just laughed aloud. "I have you where I want you now," said he, with very wrinkled brow. "I'm going to let you know that funny pranks are not allowed."

"Your crazy tricks are promptly blocked. You were the ones who tightly locked the doors and windows of my home by nailing boards on tight. What would you do if I should say that you all will be spanked today?" This scared the Trouble Tots so much they all turned almost white.

"Oh, please don't hurt us," one cried out. "We realize, without a doubt, that we have all been bad, but after this we'll be real nice. Just turn us loose and we will go." The giant promptly said, "Oh, no! I would only give you all a chance to do the same trick twice."

The Tines, in the meantime, stood and heard the Tots say they'd be good. They rather liked their new found friends, so Scouty jumped and cried, "Oh, good friend giant, our real plea is that you turn those queer Tots free. They've promised they will all be good. Their promise shall be tried."

The giant thought a while, and then he said, "I'll set them free again, if that is what you Tines wish. But, watch them, I advise. With that he set them on the ground. The Trouble Tots then gathered 'round the Tines and thanked them, with a twinkle in their eyes."

"Come on, let's play," one Tots soon cried. "I know some games that can be tried. Each Tinykite stand up real straight. Then lean and drop your head. You'll laugh at what we Tots will do. We'll run and jump right over you." Wee Copsy was the first to lean. "This game's leap-frog," he said.

(The Tots give the Tines a ride in the next story.)

We are offering these prizes in quick succession to the name and products of the Paris-American Pharmaceutical Company. To make them better known, we are dividing our profits and absolutely giving away the $2,000.00 CASH first prize, 15 other CASH prizes and in addition a new HUDSON COACH for promptness. WEST COAST-WALKER

Fannie Brice's first talking picture—her first picture of any kind, for that matter—is Warner Bros. Vitaphone special, "My Man"—now being seen and heard by record-breaking audiences at the Walker theater.

Vitaphone gives flawless reproductions of the songs which have put Fannie on the heights of fame. "My Man," which is the heart-story of three orphans of the Big Town, is shot through with delicious melody—and made almost deliciously amusing by Fannie's well-known clownings.

She also sings the others—"I'm An Indian," "The Spring Song," "If You Want the Rainbow, You Must Have the Rain," "Floradora Baby," "Second Hand Rose" and "I'd Rather Be Blue Thinking of You, Than Happy With Some."

South wins second trick with King of hearts. Declarer observes that he has two losing clubs, possibly one losing diamond in addition to one heart trick which he has already lost. He cannot afford therefore to lose any tricks in diamonds if game is to be made. Diamonds must be finessed twice. How can this be accomplished?

The Error: Declarer plays 2 of spades and takes with Queen of spades.

The Correct Method: Declarer plays 2 of spades and finesse 9 of spades. Then he takes a diamond finesse playing Queen of diamonds. After that he plays to Queen of spades and takes another diamond finesse playing Jack of diamonds. Now he draws trumps and game is assured.

The Principle: If necessary, take a deep finesse to establish a re-entry.

WEST END

A complicated quadrangular love affair spun in gales of laughter is "Rookies," new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production of army life at the West End theater, with Marceline Day and George K. Arthur in the leading roles.

There are a couple of military sheiks, a sweet young thing and a vampire all in love at the same time. Two of those sheiks, Karl Dane and George K. Arthur, look handsome in their uniforms and they make the maidenly heart of Marceline Day flutter all over the place.

YOST BROADWAY

Augmenting one of the most imposing casts that has been assembled in any Pathe picture, Renee Adoree was borrowed from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to portray the featured feminine role in "The Spieler," a story of carnival life, with music and dialogue which will open tonight at the Broadway theater. Alan Hale, Clyde Cook and Fred Kohler are also featured.

Miss Adoree appears as a high diver in a small carnival show—a role with which she is familiar inasmuch as she was born in a tent of her father's circus at Lille, France, and spent the early years of her life with European traveling shows.

"The Spieler" is an original story by Hal Conklin, and the synchronization is recommended as

RUSS ROYALTY
MUST FORFEIT
HUGE ESTATES

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 31.—Grand Duchess Olga, daughter of the late Dowager Empress of Russia, is leaving the Hvideore residence, which she shared for nearly nine years with her imperial mother.

Grand Duchess Olga formerly owned big estate in Russia, Poland and Finland. She lost them through the revolution, and the attempt by her and her sister, Grand Duchess Xenia, to regain control of the Finnish property they owned, jointly, is in the opinion of jurists, not likely to prove successful.

Now Olga has no income of any kind, and that of her husband Colonel Kolukowski, the formerly wealthy commander of the Czar's bodyguard, is not imposing. He is managing the stable of a Chicago chain store owner, who owns the estate adjoining Hvideore. Recently Kolukowski was also placed on the advisory board of an insurance company, thereby augmenting his income with a few hundred dollars a year. The Dowager Empress left nothing except a few trinkets.

When the Grand Duchess, her husband and children leave Hvideore they are to live in a modest six-room cottage situated in the vicinity of their former home. Olga frequently sponsors bazaars and charity performances for Russian refugees. Otherwise her spare hours are devoted to painting, and her brilliant water colors sell well.

Hvideore is owned jointly by the King of England and the Grand Duchess Olga and Xenia. It probably will be sold shortly. Several Americans are said to be in the market for this historical residence. Grand Duchess Xenia and her son, Prince Wassill, are returning to London, where they live at Buckingham Palace and at Windsor. Prince Dolgourucki, the former master of ceremonies at the court of St. Petersburg, and the Countess V. Menglen, lady in waiting to the Empress, probably will pass the rest of their days in a modest Copenhagen boarding house.

The servants of the late Empress are badly situated. Her two co-sacks, Poljakoff and Justik—better known under the joint name of Ivan—are trying to obtain a passport for soviet Russia. They are homeless.

Of all the old servants, Footman Madsen only can face the future without tremble. He enjoys a pension from the civil list of the Danish King, he having been a personal servant to the late King Frederick VIII of Denmark. The gardener, the chef, the womenfolk of the kitchen and the old lady's maid of the Empress are all without employment and without pension.

THE TIME TO BUY

USED CARS

The prices of used cars, like the prices of other things you buy, are influenced by SUPPLY and DEMAND.

A few weeks from now, when warmer weather comes, and the rainy season is over, there will be a greater demand for used cars than there is now. The car you want can be bought at a lower price NOW, and you stand a greater chance of getting the car you want NOW.

A USED Car bought from Harry D. Riley, comes from a house that makes YOUR SATISFACTION ITS FIRST CONSID-ERATION.

IMPORTANT

We have just transferred our Anaheim and Fullerton agencies to other dealers, and our complete stock in both of those places has been moved to our Santa Ana store.

Our DEMONSTRATORS, always in the best of condition (for many a sale has been lost because a demonstrator did not work just right, or there was an annoying squeak or rattle) ARE HERE, which gives us more demonstrators than we need, and they must be sold.

These cars have never been registered or licensed, carry NEW CAR WARRANTIES in every way, and when licensed will show "sold NEW in 1929."

EVENING SALUTATION

Be it mine to draw from wisdom's fount, pure as it flows, that calm of soul which virtue only knows.

—Aeschylus.

MAKING A CASE FOR VARE

Counsel for William S. Vare alleged to be the senator-elect from Pennsylvania has just issued a discussion of the expenditures in the Pennsylvania campaign compared with other campaigns in that state and with the campaigns of other men, to show that Mr. Vare's expenditure was not excessive. He calls attention to the fact that the Democratic party, in the late national campaign, spent thirty-six cents for every vote that was cast for Alfred E. Smith, that the Republican national committee spent thirty-one cents for every vote received for Herbert Hoover. These amounts were beside the amounts that were spent by local and state committees for the carrying on of the campaign. In some cases these amounts reached as high as seventy-two cents, falling down as low in some states as thirty-four cents. But on the average, adding the state and national expense together, it cost more than a dollar per vote for every vote cast for president on either ticket.

It is hardly fair in determining the cost of the campaign to charge the weaker party with the larger expenditure because the individual vote costs more and the total amount spent was spent to win all the people. The total was less by over a million dollars for the Democrats than the Republicans, though they had naturally the larger task.

Mr. Brown calls attention to the expenditure by Mr. Pinchot, who spent fifty-five cents in his campaign for the United States Senate in Pennsylvania for every vote received. The amount spent in the Pepper-Fisher-Smith campaign, if charged to Senator Pepper, would be found to be $3.50 for every vote received. Mr. Vare's expenditure was on the basis of $1.24 for every vote cast for him. To be sure, Mr. Vare is taking later campaigns and larger campaigns for his comparison but he does make out a case in defense of the amount of the expenditure.

There is another side to the Vare case. The complaint was not alone of the vast amount of money spent for the campaign but it was in the use to which that money was placed. Postage, literature, advertising, hall rent, public speakers, all these run into a vast sum of money in a campaign. They are all legitimate expenses. But hiring men as watchers at booths in such numbers and paying them so well that it amounts to a blind simply for the purchase of their vote, or paying the fee for naturalization of men to become voters, or poll taxes, or the payment of any obligation or debt for an individual in consideration of his vote is on an entirely different basis.

There is no question but what there is a great deal more money spent in campaigns than there should be and when it is spent by committees or individuals who have not themselves made the contribution there is a prodigality in the expenditure that in itself is almost criminal. It is becoming difficult for certain people to be successful candidates as it costs so much to reach the voters. The successful individual must either meet this expenditure out of his own pocket or be under obligations to individuals or corporations which will make this expenditure for him. In the latter case it proves most disastrous to the common weal for men and institutions who make large contributions to the success of candidates, as a rule, expect and receive their reward and the tax payer finally is assessed the cost of this reward in one way or another.

A man in New York state voluntarily cut his own salary twice. Evidently not a married man.

TENDENCY TOWARD SYNDICATES

Frank E. Gannett has just purchased the Brooklyn Eagle. This makes fifteen daily papers in the syndicate owned by Mr. Gannett. During the past year he purchased, beside the Eagle, the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle, the Albany Knickerbocker Press, the Albany Evening News and the Ogdensburg Republican-Journal. For two of these papers he paid over five million dollars each.

The newspapers of the country are becoming fewer in number and these fewer are being taken over one by one by syndicates. To be sure, on the aggregate, there are a great number of papers privately and individually owned but big money is flowing into this channel either for profit-making or for some other purpose.

The newspaper is pretty largely the clearing house for public opinion. Under the management of some of these men in syndicates, newspapers are enabled to serve to a higher degree because of having access to syndicated services which individually they are not able to employ. In some cases where syndicates own the papers the editors are granted and assured complete freedom for editorial expression. In other cases, the expression of the one is the expression of all dominated by the principal ownership. Both financially and from the standpoint of democratic leadership this tendency of ownership of newspapers in a few hands is one of the very important phenomena of present change.

Who remembers the good old-fashioned days when fur used to come from animals?

THE FRENCH FILM SETTLEMENT

French film producers, it seems, have not fared so well over the working out of the Will Hays agreement. Under that agreement, American producers were to buy one French film for every seven American pictures sold in France. It would appear now that the Frenchmen feel that Will put one over on them. It is possible that he did.

Every man wants to earn his salary and Hays is no exception. He is a very resourceful man as he showed in advising and aiding in handling the situation when the Republican party committee desired to conceal a large amount of money and stocks. He is something of a magician to make things disappear when they should and return when they are needed. He may have perpetrated some such slight of hand on the Frenchmen and they are now willing to bet that he can't do it again.

METHODS OF PRIVATE UTILITIES

In Nebraska three years ago, a campaign was carried on to line up the newspapers in behalf of private ownership of all public utilities. One of the suggestions that was made was by means of a question submitted to the papers asking them whether they thought that public or private ownership was more profitable for the newspapers. There is only one answer to this question. Publicly owned utilities do not advertise. It might be wise if they did along some line but they don't have to. They are non-competitive. But as a matter of fact some of the privately owned public utilities do not need to advertise as far as the sale of their service is concerned. They do advertise for the promotion of good will and for the development of their business along the line of increasing trade and the sale of appliances connected with their particular utility.

Private enterprise and initiative can teach the public ownership a great many things and one of these things is to never be contented with the amount of business that you have. There is always room for development and enlargement. Salaries fixed and certain and payment based finally upon taxes are not conducive to the development of ingenuity and resourcefulness. Neither are they conducive to the cutting of expense and the increase of profit. There are many arguments that can be used on behalf of public ownership as on behalf of private ownership but when we are able to get public officials to address themselves with the same degree of avidity to enlarging business and reducing overhead as is done in private enterprises we shall have laid the foundation for great success in public ownership.

THOUSANDS FOR BOOKS

Shelley's copy of "Queen Mab" at a sale in New York the other day passed to Gabriel Wells of New York for $69,000. Robert Louis Stevenson's "A Child's Garden of Verses" was sold for $8,500. Eight Shakespeare items brought a total of $42,637.50. Recently we have noted that relics of "Pickwick Papers" were bought for $37,000 and "Tom Jones" for $29,000. It is interesting to note these prices though the collecting of costly and rare editions ranks with the collecting of old bottles and jades rather than with the book loves. Collectors who pay these high prices are interested rather in preserving their books than in reading them. Stevenson's book, the news article says, had been well cared for; its leaves were uncut.

It was Charles Lamb who liked his books well worn and familiar in their bindings; though many of his best loved books he said deserved the most elegant and costly bindings procurable.

These people who pay thousands for books certainly have their share in placing valuations on books. But most of us have more reason for rejoicing over the decreasing cost of good standard reading matter. The little blue covered five cent editions are a great boon, they can be tucked in the pocket for chance minutes of waiting, or a few of them placed in the pocket of the automobile against a future opportunity, and a whole library of them can be installed in the summer cottage. There are dollar editions of the world's best literature which make a good appearance on the library shelf and looking them over and estimating their great value one can feel rich and thrilled indeed over one's possessions. It all depends on whether one wants a museum or a library.

New York Debates New Marriage Law

San Bernardino Sun

Just as California takes up consideration of whether it will repeal its three-day marriage intention notice law public welfare interests in New York begin the debate as to whether that state should not have such a measure.

The New York Times, which is never in a hurry to urge new regulations, declares:

"Many of the girls under 16 who married last year in this city came from New Jersey and Connecticut. In those states the law requires a period of five days between the application for a license and getting it. If the law here were amended in that sense, some at least of these marriages, which reflect no credit on New York, would be prevented. Young girls who are uncontrolled or, as is sometimes the case, badly advised by their parents need the protection of such a law."

The objection raised in California is that the number of marriages has decreased under the requirement that a notice of intention be given for three days. Instead of serving as an argument against the law, these figures serve as an argument for it. Marriages that cannot wait the three-day period now required certainly would not be based on stability.

Here Is a Happy Task For Governments to Do

San Francisco Chronicle

Something may have been started in Berlin the other day when a woman "cosmetic surgeon" gave an address in the Reichstag on the duty of the state to make people beautiful. If the staid Germans don't respond all the good lady has to do is to come to the United States and address any legislature on the subject and the thing is done. Americans are not the ones to pass up the opportunity of pushing such a simple little task on the state. Certainly it is the duty of government to contribute to the happiness of its citizens. And if abolishing double chins, knobby knees and peanut noses doesn't make people happy what will? Besides, it would be such an easy thing to do. All that would be necessary would be to pass a law about it.

Criterion

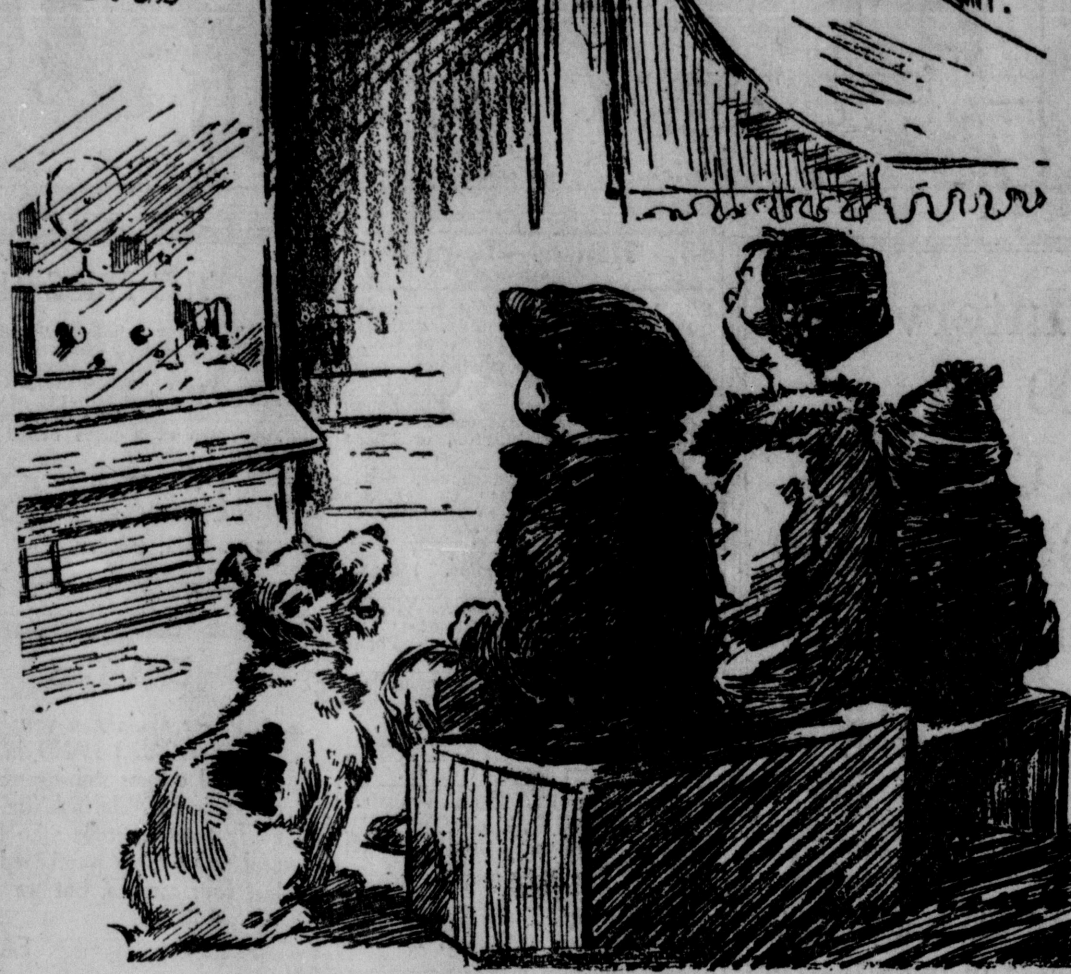

San Diego Union

A small boy was given a $60,000 birthday present one day last week. The gift was a fine old violin made by Stradivarius nearly 200 years ago, in the golden age of that great master craftsman's career. Genius went into the making of the instrument. Two centuries mellowed it and enriched its tone. It was valued by many a sincere musician, cherished reverently, kept carefully—possessed always of that almost miraculous quality of excellence which no chance arrangement of wood and glue and varnish could explain. It became known finally as one of the world's great instruments. And then, in the year 1923, a wealthy man had it, and gave it to a 12-year-old boy. Extravagance? Not at all. The boy was Yehudi Menuhin.

When a gift fits the needs and abilities of the child, no birthday present can be either extravagant or stingy.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

Both the ancient Greeks and the ancient Romans understood the art of advertising—Dr. Ralph D. McGoffin.

I used to wonder how the Greeks became so wise and great
And sculpted those valuable antiques
So hard to imitate.
I marveled at what way she found
To such estate to come
When other nations all around
Were absolutely dumb.
At other times I wondered too
How Rome, of recent birth,
Compared to Greece's, grew and grew
Until she ruled the earth,
While North and South and East and West
And all around the map
No other populace possessed
A bit of zip or snap.
For ages while they held the reins,
These lands beyond a doubt
Had all the wisdom and the brains
Existing thereabout.
What made them great? What kept them such
And gave them their wide sway?
Upon these points I wondered much
Until the other day.
And then I found these noble folks
Grew very early wise;
Before they dealt their conquering strokes
They learned to advertise!
And having made their nations known
With copy bright and breezy,
Sent broadcast froth from zone to zone
The rest of it was easy!

Dr. Frank Crane's Friendly Talk

By Dr. Frank Crane

CONTROLLING THE EMOTIONS
A man's emotions are like the steam in a locomotive boiler. They make him go. But the man's reason is like the engineer in the cab; he is supposed to have control of the steam. A locomotive that was all steam and without an engineer would soon wreck itself.

Education is the fire-proofer of emotions. It is among the uneducated that the emotions flame up most quickly into mobs and riots.

"Emotion" observed Dr. Platt in his "Riddle of Society," "is more restrained today. It may still be fanned into its old flame, but in more educated centers the flame does not spread. There is too much fire-proof material."

Some of the asbestos and metal that education provides to keep emotion within bounds comes from an increased ability to reason and think, a wide range of reading and a frequent presentation of different sides of questions.

The educated man's thinking becomes more complex. He has seen too many times that a question has other sides to believe in sudden, uninvestigated direct action. He is slower in being pushed into it.

The greatest force in the world is emotion. It is the driving wheels of the automobile. But front wheels to steer the power are also needed, if it isn't to be wasted or to do harm. These front wheels represent reason.

Almost without exception the acts of a mob, running without any leadership except emotion, have proved wrong-headed and harmful.

The justice of a mob is almost always unjustice. The mob that roared through Paris on the eve of the French Revolution, heading for the Bastille, demonstrated how emotion unrestrained is able to reason.

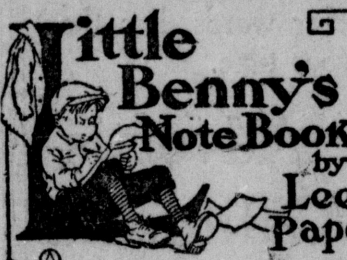

The mob that came to redress its honest wrongs under Henry III of England ended by falling not upon the King's party, against whom they had the grievance, but upon the miserable Jews, five hundred of whom they killed.

The mob that headed for London, under Wat Tyler began destroying the palaces of the aristocracy, against whom they had a just quarrel, and ended by attacking wine cellars exclusively.

In the balance of emotion and reason a happy mean must be struck. The too-learned tend to become so calm and apathetic that they lose their power. The ignorant tend to become so inflamed and violent that they are but puppets to fanatic destruction.

Emotion that retains its power but is fire-proofed within bounds of reason is what is needed.

We was having spelling in school and we had the word climax, Miss Kitty said, who knows the meaning of that word by the way?

Nobody raising their hand, and Miss Kitty sed, Well in my opinion the most important thing about a word is its meaning, now surely somebody in the class knows the meaning of climax, now think hard.

Wich we did, and after a while Leroy Shooter raised his hand, saying, Climax means the way the temperature is in different countries.

Wat, O you mean climate, that's another thing intirely, Miss Kitty sed, Wat do you think climax means, Charles? she sed.

Meaning Puds Simkins, and Puds got up saying, Climax is a kind of a flower.

Then it must of changed a grate eel, Miss Kitty sed, O I know wat your thinking of, climatis, that's a flower, you were thinking of climatis, she sed.

Yes man, Puds sed, Meaning he was satisfied, and Miss Kitty sed, But we cant spend the intire day over the word climax, Ill call on just one more boy, Ill call on Raymin Leevy.

Raymin Leevy getting up and saying, A climax is a kind of a ax that firemen and people use to help them clime up walls and places.

It may sound that way but its not, Miss Kitty sed. A climax is the last of a chain of circumstances that brings them to a head, so to speak. Now I want Benny Potts to rise and give me a sentence using the word climax, she sed.

Wich I did, saying, One day a long chain of circumstances was brawt to a head by a climax.

Well I must say that definition is the climax of my efforts to find a definition of the word climax, Miss Kitty sed. Such a class, we will now begin Joggferry, she said.

Wich we did.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

SOME LAMPS OF EXPERIENCE

I do not know a better hobby for a man—whether he be a man of large affairs or a man of small affairs—than the collection and careful reading of books of history.

He will find in history plot and action equal to the most alluring concoctions of the novelist.

He will find in history the human interest and heart beat that the best biographers offer him.

He will find in history, if good historians have written it, a gathering, not alone of generals and statesmen, but of scientists, explorers, inventors, business men, artists, and all the fraternity of creative spirits that have made and molded mankind.

He will find in history the story of inarticulate millions of men whose hands uphold the fabric of society.

And, above all, he will discover that the attainment of a wide knowledge of the story of mankind is the best possible preparation for understanding and making intelligent use of the modern world in which he lives, for the lamp of experience is the best illumination of the road into tomorrow.

Here are some of the lamps of experience that distinguished historians, like Edward Potts Cheney and James Harvey Robinson, find shining from the pages of history to guide our thought and action in our own time.

First, there is continuity to the story of mankind.

Second, nations and states are not immortal.

Third, every people owes much that it thinks and does and has to other people that are often remote in time and in place.

Fourth, democracy as a spirit, although its forms and its formulas come and go, marches steadily on.

Fifth, there is a steady enlargement of liberty, of freedom, of choice.

Sixth, gratuitous cruelty steadily decreases and human kindness steadily widens.

Seventh, there is a steady trend towards secularization or towards reducing human affairs to earthly standards and human control.

Eighth, our present industrial system did not create poverty and over-work, for the mass of mankind has always been miserable.

Ninth, all the people of earth are yearly being brought together ever more closely.

Tenth, that people live most happily and effectively, which neither over-rates the past nor under-estimates its present.

Every one of these ten observations contain sound guidance for us if we will take the trouble to dog it out.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE HARD WAY

The principal went into Miss Kitty's room. Miss Kitty was young and earnest. The fourth grade was young and not at all earnest about anything save lunch time and play time and bed time.

There was an atmosphere of strain in the room. Miss Kitty's cheeks were very hot and her eyes very shiny. The fourth grade was frowning, bent over its papers.

"What's the trouble?" "They've GOT to do their long division today before they go home. They've simply got to learn to finish what they have begun. They've been working on that example all week and now I'm determined that they finish it and get it right."

"Dear me. What kind of an example is it?"

It was one of those that did not come out even and it reached clear across the page. Miss Kitty had made it up herself.

"This is a very difficult example Miss Kitty."

"Of course it is. That's why they have to do it. If they do that one right they will never have any more trouble with long division as long as they live."

Which might, or might not be true. That rule like many another cuts two ways. "Why not give them an easier one?"

"Life will not give them easy ones," said Miss Kitty.

"How do you know? Are you going to govern their lives as you do their examples? You know that all you can do here is to send these children out of your room with an attitude of love towards their work. That is the very best you can do. Will this do that?"

"I'm trying to train character, not just to do long division."

"And so am I."

Here are the two old schools at war once more. The hard thing is what is good for your soul. If a thing is pleasant and easy it is not good for your soul.

Just which method is best for the souls of men I would not dare to say but this one thing I know. When you teach a little child anything it is wise to begin with the pleasant easy end and work toward the heights. Most of us have to have a running start. Few of us can rise to the heights with an even and upright flight.

All the pleasure in work is good because it gives the child a taste for more. Only a stupid child would ask to do work that made him ache all over. Cultivate the tiny sprouts of growth with smiles and kind words, let the first efforts of the child meet with success and the accompaniments of success so that he will return to his task with joy.

Then don't pick out all the hard questions, all the knotty problems, all the difficult places in the subjects, or the tasks, or the chores. Let them be the rewards of the strenuous ones. Make the place of danger the place of honor and see the youngsters rise to it. There's a way that is not all hard, not all easy, but a healthy inspiring adventure all around the world and back again. No need of making things hard. They'll be that all in good time. Begin easy.

NOT SO EASY HERE

Afghanistan chased her reformer King out of the country. A lot of people over here would like to know if plain clothes reformers can be banished in the same way.
